

Roberto Strongman

THE SNAKE TREE

I am the serpent
Quetzalcoatl, Damballah, and St. Patrick
I melt into the tree that I'm coiled around

Deceitful they thought me
But I bring wisdom
The prophet's staff slithers on the ground
He lifts it to heal

World's axis
Maypole
Silk Cotton Tree Samauma
Totem and Mapou

Once they spied me
In plain metamorphosis
They caught me naked between animal and plant
Then they drank of my snake trunk
And tasted for the first time the truth
That the wood of the crisscross vine is meaty
And bleeds deliciously

I am the serpent
Double helix Juramidam
Caduceus staff
Immortal Hoasca

Calabash

A JOURNAL OF CARIBBEAN ARTS AND LETTERS

Volume 5, Number 1 / Summer-Fall 2008

Information about this work:

---

THE SNAKE TREE

By: Roberto Strongman

Start Page: 19

URL: <http://www.nyu.edu/calabash/vol5no1/0501019.pdf>

---

Calabash: A Journal of Caribbean Arts and Letters is an international literary journal dedicated to publishing works encompassing, but not limited to, the Anglophone, Francophone, Hispanophone and Dutch-speaking Caribbean. The Journal is especially dedicated to presenting the arts and letters of those communities that have long been under-represented within the creative discourse of the region, among them: Aruba and the Netherlands Antilles, Maroon societies, and the Asian and Amerindian societies of the region. Calabash has a strong visual arts component.

Calabash is published by New York University. Please contact the publisher for further permissions regarding the use of this work. Publisher information may be obtained at: **http://www.nyu.edu/calabash/about.html**

Calabash: A Journal of Caribbean Arts and Letters
© 2008 New York University