What ASPA Offers to You

Stay Current in Field. Pride in Public Service. Network. Mentor. Volunteer.

- ☆ Solutions for Public Managers – Solutions for Public Managers is ASPA's online resource center for government professionals. View research resources and links, ask a question about a work-related issue, or learn what other public administration associations have to offer.
- ☆ International Partnerships – Participate in exchange programs, conferences and/or joint projects with ASPA's international counterparts.
- ☆ Networking Opportunities – Participation in ASPA through its chapters, sections and national and regional conferences will expose you to a vast network of public administration professionals, resources and information.
- ☆ ASPA's Web site—ASPA's Web site keeps you up to date on the field of public service as well as ASPA's own projects, products and services.
- ☆ The Center for Accountability and Performance (CAP)—A resource for members interested in performance measurement and managing for results, CAP offers case studies, workshops, workbooks, symposia and other educational tools.
- ☆ Public Administration Review (PAR)—The premier journal in public administration. Crucial for keeping you current on important topics.
- ☆ PA TIMES—A monthly newspaper focusing on the concerns of public administrators and highlighting best practices in the field. The Recruiter is an employment section on our Web site and in PA TIMES.
- ☆ Volunteer Opportunities —ASPA offers you countless volunteer opportunities in both the organization and public administration. Volunteering with ASPA offers valuable experience and exposure.
