

Green Development Committee

Note from the Committee Chair / Co-Chairs

Welcome to the Green Development Committee! Our group was formed to provide students with the opportunity to meet others interested in the booming industry of Green Building. Our committee promotes the sharing of ideas related to sustainable development, getting to know active professionals in the industry, and learning more about the future of going "Green".

Some highlights/goals of the upcoming semester:

- Green Events: We will be bringing in at least two speakers this semester who are leading developers, architects, or other prominent professional in the Green Building industry, and hold other events pertaining to Green Development.
- Green Building Tours: We will also be working with the CM / Building Tours Committee of REISA on plan tours of various buildings in New York that have achieved Green status.
- LEED accreditation: All developments seeking Green status must have a LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) Accredited Professional coordinating the project and certification process. We offer study materials, study groups, and other support to help anyone interested in taking the exam and achieving LEED AP status.

Please feel free to share new plans or ideas; we'll be constantly looking for new ways to make this an interesting and successful semester. I look forward to getting everyone involved. Please feel free to contact me at any time.

For more information:

Adam Loftin, chair
scps.reisa.greendev@nyu.edu