Review and Approval of the Minutes of the March 1, 2012 Meeting

Upon motion duly made and seconded, the Minutes of the March 1, 2012 meeting were approved unanimously as presented.

PRESIDENT’S QUESTION TIME

Dr. Sexton responded to the SSC’s question about rising interest rates on student loans, stating that Congress is scheduled to vote on extending the reduced interest rates for student loans. He related that because there is consensus in Congress that interest rates should be reduced, it is likely that the extension will pass. Mr. Cotugno added that he recently signed a letter, along with other students, urging President Obama to support the measure.

In response to the SSC’s question about funding for CUSP, Dr. Sexton advised that in addition to the $15 million to be awarded by the City, CUSP will be funded by philanthropy and the creation of graduate programs that further CUSP’s academic initiatives. He also noted that the 2031 Plan seeks to reduce NYU’s long-term real estate costs by building on property NYU already owns in Washington Square and by acquiring property near NYU-Poly and CUSP in Brooklyn.

Dr. Sexton responded to the SSC’s question about student athletic needs during the reconstruction of Coles Gym, advising that the current 2031 Plan allows for a temporary gym in Washington Square Village. He noted, however, the plan must be approved by the City through the Uniform Land Use Review Procedure (ULURP), in which University leaders are heavily involved. Dr. Sexton emphasized the importance of having a gym at the Square in order to meet the needs of students during the construction.

In response to the AMC’s question about misperceptions regarding the 2031 Plan, Dr. Sexton spoke to the importance of the Plan in enabling NYU to create the spatial endowment it needs to ensure the University’s future success. He related that the University put off building maintenance projects in the 1970s and 1980s due to severe budget constraints, and has been playing catch up until very recently, while at the same time NYU has been expanding its facilities. He reported that the construction contemplated in the 2031 Plan will occur over about 20 years and increases University facilities at approximately the same rate as in the past decade. Dr. Sexton noted that our facilities are cramped and inadequate; and our peer institutions have two- and three- and four-times as much square footage per student as we do, with Columbia having about twice the square feet per student even without its new campus. He advised that he frequently speaks to members of the community to emphasize that the 2031 Plan would minimize the need of the University to convert other properties in the Village, that the University values and is respectful of the character of the Village, and that the 2031 strikes what he views as a good balance between the needs of the University and the community. He stated that a University working group on space priorities will be created and that each of the Senate councils may appoint working group members. The working group will focus on developing principles on how to allocate space and identify other space opportunities. Dr. Sexton related that the executive committee of each of the Senate councils will be contacted regarding the working group.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Academic Affairs Committee

No report was submitted by the Academic Affairs Committee.

Financial Affairs Committee

Mr. Dorph related that the Committee will meet after today’s Senate meeting.

Committee on Organization and Governance

Mr. Cotugno reported that the Committee has not met since the last Senate meeting and will continue its review of the non-tenure track faculty issue in the Fall.

Public Affairs Committee

Professor Tannenbaum thanked the Committee for its hard work this year and deferred to Student Senators John Boyd and Jameson Lee, who presented the annual report on campus security, which included updates on mental health, public safety, residential life, and the Office of Community Standards. The report is attached to these minutes as Exhibit A.

COUNCIL REPORTS

Administrative Management Council

Ms. Dwyer reported that the AMC met on March 6 and heard a presentation by Martin Dorph, Executive Vice President for Finance and Information Technology, and Tony Jiga, Vice President for Budget and Planning, on the University’s budget process. She advised that at the April 3 meeting, Alicia Hurley, Vice President for Government Affairs and Community Engagement, provided an update on NYU 2031.

She noted that the AMC held Officers’ elections for the 2012-2013 year and David Vogelsang was elected AMC Chair, David Vintinner was elected Vice Chair, Liam Fry was elected Secretary, and Anne Stubing was elected Treasurer.
Deans Council

Dean Bertolami reported on the Council’s last meeting, which focused on a discussion of the Global Network University and the implementation of NYU Traveler. He advised that the Council also heard a presentation by Richard Matasar, Vice President of University Enterprise Initiatives, regarding new opportunities for executive education. He noted that Interim Dean of Nursing Judith Haber initiated a discussion about improving educational opportunities for veterans and the Council will form a group to discuss this matter further.

Faculty Senators Council

Dr. Magder related that at the last FSC meeting, the Council unanimously approved a recommendation that all schools make course evaluations available for review by NYU students. He noted that currently, schools have varying practices regarding students’ access to course evaluations, and the FSC plans to work with the SSC to bring the recommendation to the attention of all schools. The resolution recommends “That all schools be encouraged to conduct end-of-semester evaluations of all undergraduate and graduate classes and instructors, either on paper or online; and that this information be available to students on a familiar NYU site like Albert.”

Dr. Magder noted that the FSC’s recommendation regarding Senate representation of non-tenure track faculty is before the Committee on Organization and Governance, which will continue its review of the issue in the Fall, and that the FSC continues to work with University Administration to develop best practices for shared governance, and to represent faculty interests in discussions concerning NYU 2031.

Student Senators Council

Mr. Cotugno announced the results of the SSC Officers’ elections for the 2012-2013 year and Malina Webb was elected SSC Chair, Rocco Puno was elected SSC Vice Chair, and Mariam Ehrari was elected Vice Chair of the University Committee on Student Life (UCSL).

Dr. Sexton commended Albert and the SSC for all of its hard work this year.

Student Senator Rocco Puno presented the University Committee on Student Life’s (UCSL) International Affairs Committee Report. This Committee and its International Ambassadors Program advocates for study abroad students, helps to develop best practices, and makes recommendations to improve the student experience abroad. Based on the feedback from the Ambassadors, the Committee recommends greater emphasis on local immersion such as integrating study abroad students with students at local universities, more uniform pre-arrival preparedness procedures, and integration of freshmen with upperclassmen to encourage mentorship. Mr. Puno also noted that the Committee recommends more efforts be made to prepare students for potential language barriers, especially for students with no experience with the local language, such as by instituting a language “boot camp.”

Ulrich Baer, Vice Provost for Globalization and Multicultural Affairs, thanked the Committee for its recommendations and noted that the Office of Global Programs is implementing new practices in response to these findings. Debra LaMorte, Senior Vice President for Development and Alumni Relations, added that an Alumni Passport Program will be introduced in September to involve international alumni in mentoring students and local immersion.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

Dr. Sexton referred to the memorandum that was circulated to each Senator, and is attached to these minutes as Exhibit B, outlining some of the individual and collective achievements at the University since the Senate’s last meeting.

Commencement 2012 Update

On behalf of Senior Vice President for University Relations and Public Affairs Lynne Brown, Dr. Sexton related that all preparations for commencement and commencement-related activities are on track.

1831 Fund

Ms. LaMorte and Mr. Cotugno reported on the 1831 Fund, showing a short film describing the Fund, and outlining its goals of contributing to financial aid and teaching students about alumni giving.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned at 4:05 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Bonnie Brier
Secretary
MEMORANDUM

To: Public Affairs Committee of the Student Senate
From: Jules A. Martin, Vice President Global Security & Crisis Management
Date: April 25, 2012
Re: Campus Security Report

The Department of Public Safety maintains a security staffing level of over 350 security professionals. Each officer and the Public Safety management team member is committed to maintaining the safest environment in New York City. While NYU has one of the largest proprietary Security Departments in the nation, many of the accomplishments both domestically and globally are via a strong collaborative relationship with local, state, and federal law enforcement communities and other internal Departments.

Highlights Department Items:

International Operations:

✓ With the continuation of the Global Network University expansion, site visits to international NYU locations has begun. The purpose is to review current security issues and technologies utilized for academic and residential facilities, and to assess potential new locations. To date, NYU in Buenos Aires, Madrid, Florence, Paris, London, Ghana and Singapore have been visited with documented assessment reports prepared.

✓ Public Safety continues to meet with Global Site Directors, and their staff when they rotate into NY for weeklong training sessions. Topics include emergency management, NYU Traveler program, Clery Act issues and duty to report.

Security Operations/Investigations:

✓ On June 20, 2011, Public Safety hired a Lost and Found/Uniform Control Aide as a part of a complete overhaul of lost and found procedures. The tasks were to receive, log, inventory and secure lost and found articles and expeditiously make every attempt to return said property to its owner. Also to coordinate, maintain and distribute uniforms to uniform members of Public Safety.
The Public Safety Department embarked on a plan to enhance the overall efficiency and appearance of the Public Safety Command Center located at 14 Washington Place. Improved security technology and, new furniture and fixtures were installed.

Training:

- American Red Cross CPR/AED training has been completed for 93% of the Department’s uniformed personnel, and the training unit is working toward ensuring that all uniform security supervisors and officers are qualified in this vital skill. On April 15, 2012, a uniformed sergeant who is CPR/AED certified used an AED to save the life of a University employee who had suffered a heart attack. Public Safety is collaborating with other schools and business units to provide CPR/AED training for key personnel and to increase the number of AEDs that are currently deployed.
- The Department of Public Safety’s training manager trained 27 contract security supervisors and guards at NYU Accra to elevate them to Washington Square standards.
- The Training Unit, in April 2012, was certified by the New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services for renewal of its status as an approved Security Guard Training School. New York State’s certification process for such approved schools has been rigorously enhanced during the past year.
- Thirteen new employees were enrolled in the Department’s rigorous new hire training program during the past year, ten of whom successfully completed the program and who continue to serve the University as security officers.

University Transportation:

- In support of the University’s efforts to reduce its carbon footprint Academy Bus delivered the second of five diesel-electric hybrid transit buses to the University Transportation fleet in October 2011, an impressive 22 months ahead of schedule. Academy will add three more “green” buses to the fleet by Calendar Year 2017.

Emergency Management:

- Hurricane Irene response - Following several days of planning, NYU formed an Incident Command structure and staffed an Emergency Operations Center on the 12th Floor of Bobst Library beginning on Saturday August 27, 2011 at 8am. Staffed by the principle University leadership for University Response; Public Safety, Facilities and Operations, and Information Technology, the EOC remained engaged in response activities throughout the event. The EOC terminated activities on Sunday August 28, 2011 at 6pm. A total of 8 Situation reports were generated for the operational period outlining specific activities engaged by the University.
- Earthquake Response - A rare magnitude 5.8 earthquake, centered in the tiny town of Mineral, Va., shook the Eastern seaboard of the United States for approximately 45 seconds on August 23, 2011. The unusual nature of an earthquake was cause for concern for many individuals and entities in the NYC metropolitan area. NYU Public Safety staff activated the Emergency Operations Center and the Mir3 emergency notification system was utilized. 64,091 SMS text messages were sent out in 14 minutes. 14216 voice calls were confirmed and were sent out in 14 minutes.
✓ Emergency Management has begun a review and update of the existing school emergency management plans. A working group has been formed and met on October 18, 2011 to commence the update.

Business Continuity:

✓ NYU has launched a comprehensive, 3 year Business Continuity Planning process. Following a review process, Risk Solutions International was hired to provide expertise and technical assistance in the process. The first year of the process focuses on the Core business functions and will result in an easily maintained, always accessible web based response tool.

NYU Traveler:

✓ Following a university wide review, NYU Traveler continues to evolve as an invaluable risk management tool for the NYU traveling community. With the implementation of an agreement with iJET/Worldcue, NYU traveler now provides the required expertise necessary to provide the right tools for both the traveler and administration to make informed decisions about travel-as well as provide a near real time tool for proactively notifying and recording travel arrangements.

Security Technology:

✓ The Department continues to embrace current security technologies, such as Internet Protocol (IP) cameras, and Network Video recorders, to augment existing access control and alarm systems in order to enhance its security posture domestically and globally.

✓ Since the beginning of September 2010, over 400 IP cameras and 15 Network Video recorders have been added.

✓ The Lenel Access Control System has been converted to an Enterprise System. The Enterprise system allows NYU to manage user access throughout our global university network. Working in conjunction with the one university one card concept, a cardholder will be able to travel to any of our global university sites and be granted access prior to their arrival once all sites have been converted. The Enterprise system is presently installed and operational in Washington Square, Abu Dhabi and NYU Poly.

✓ The Department is in the process of exploring enhanced radio communications to allow seamless communication between the NY campus and the Global Sites. The long term goal is to offer an interoperability which would include satellite phones and other emerging technologies.

NYUCard Services:

✓ NYU Card Services has successfully re-carded the university population of 79,000 cardholders with the new I-class cards. The re-carding included all of the NYU global and study abroad sites as well as the NYU Poly site. The bulk of the re-carding took place between June and October 2011. The enhanced card will make the card recognized and useable at all NYU Campuses worldwide.

✓ In conjunction with the new I-class card, I-class readers have replaced the traditional swipe readers at NYU Poly, NYU in Florence, NYU in Berlin and 85% of the readers here at Washington Square. The remaining 15% should be completed by June 1, 2012.
These sites join Abu Dhabi and Singapore in moving towards 100% tap and go access control feature using our Lenel Enterprise system.

✓ The update of over 1400 swipe readers to the I-class readers in the Lenel Enterprise systems will eliminate the use access control features in our legacy systems (ProWatch and Lenel) and create a single access control environment that is compatible with all current and future installations.

Crime Prevention

✓ Operation ID, a joint program between the NYPD and Public Safety offers individuals to register and “tag” their personal electronic devices and bicycles utilizing an infrared pen. If property is lost or stolen, and subsequently recovered by the police, the owner can be identified and contacted. Since the last report, 4 sessions have been offered to the NYU community. Over 250 electronic devices were tagged. Recording the special Operation ID numbers help facilitate investigation in the event the item is stolen and also help in the return of the item to the rightful owner.

✓ Operation Tag-It was introduced in 2010 to combat “thefts of opportunity” which is the most prevalent crime on campus. High traffic areas where students are most prone to leave their property unattended have been targeted. For calendar year 2011, 3087 notices were issued. 34 larcenies were reported involving students leaving their property unattended.

✓ Recognizing that educating the NYU Community is essential to maintaining a safe and secure environment, Public Safety offers numerous orientations and department in-services to students, and staff from business units and Academic schools. In 2011, over 60 sessions were provided that ranged in topics from safety in the city, sexual harassment and assault, best security practices in the workplace to utilizing University transportation and mass transit with safety in mind.

Crime Analysis- Year to date comparison- 2011/2012

✓ In comparing reported crime year to date through April 11, 2012, statistics are analyzed to determine patterns or trends that may affect the NYU community. The following are examples of New York Police Department crime statistics south of 59th Street in Manhattan year to date:

- Serious crime, defined by the NYPD to include Murder, Rape, Robbery, Felony Assault, Burglary, Grand Larceny, and Grand Larceny Auto, is down 1.91 %
- Specific crimes in the precincts that cover the footprint of NYU have also seen an overall decrease. The 6th pct, which handles the lion’s share of NYU locations saw a 0% increase in serious crime. The 9th Precinct which covers the area East of Broadway has seen a 9.06% increase in serious crime; most notably with Burglary cases. The 13th Precinct, which covers the area North of 14th Street has seen a 14.1% reduction in crime.
- By comparison, covering the same period, there has been a 33% reduction of robberies, a 40% decrease in assaults and a 75% decrease of Burglaries reported to Public Safety.
As a department that touches every aspect of University life, Public Safety representatives are members of various committees involving Student Health, Student Affairs, Take Care NYU Campaign, Sustainability, the Clery Act, Student Engagement, Global Network University, 2031 Project and Bias.

The Department’s success is largely attributable to its partnership with colleagues throughout the University and governmental agencies.

Respectfully Submitted.
Health and Student Services

- The community health model with open access for primary care, mental health, and health promotion services, implemented in the Fall of 2006, has resulted in an increase in the number of unique patients visiting the Student Health Center (SHC) for six consecutive years. We anticipate over 25,000 students having contact with the SHC this year. This is a dramatic increase in student utilization and broadens health access for NYU students. As our primary public health concerns have been prevention and early detection of communicable diseases and mental disorders, the increased usage by students has led to multiple opportunities for a positive impact on both priorities. This, in turn, contributes to a healthier and safer campus.

- In response to New York State Public Health Law 2165 that requires all students taking six (6) credits or more in a degree granting program to provide proof of immunization to measles, mumps, and rubella the SHC, in collaboration with multiple offices at the University continues to achieve over 99.9% compliance with the state imposed deadlines. This degree of vaccination coverage will minimize the risk of spreading communicable disease to the NYU community.

- The Safe and Healthy Campus Community workgroup of the LiveWellNYU public health initiative is focusing on risk reduction strategies that influence health of not just an individual but the population at large throughout the Global Network University.

The 7 areas of workgroup focus are:

- Develop health requirements to reflect emerging global infectious disease patterns.
- Increase preventive measures that minimize the transmission of colds and flu.
- Increase the number of bystanders able and willing to intervene on behalf of a student in crisis.
- Coordinate sexual assault, online harassment and other violence prevention efforts throughout the GNU.
- Diversify modalities for disseminating violence and injury prevention information.
- Increase personal responsibility for transportation safety.
- Improve infrastructure to support safe walking, bicycling, and other self-powered transportation.

Additional efforts with a focus on health and safety include:

- Grab and Go: Health on the Run, daily programs designed to enhance existing levels of wellness and connect students to services and resources, continue to be conducted weekly. Student peer educators/health leaders provide education on SHC resources, nutrition, stress management, sexual health, and alcohol use. They answer questions about Health Promotion services such as smoking cessation and biofeedback, and connect students to Counseling and other services within the Student Health Center.

- AlcoholEdu, an alcohol education module, is administered to all incoming freshmen prior to the start of classes. The course provides students with information about high-risk drinking behaviors and associated harms, including tools for planning and hosting safer social gatherings. As of January 2012, for Part I of the course, 4,771/4907 freshmen students had completed it—a compliance rate of 97%.

- Stressbusters, students trained in basic Swedish massage techniques, continue to function as ambassadors for the SHC providing stress relief opportunities and resource referrals to students throughout the campus. Provided by request at various times and locations, programs are also held at set times each week in the SHC and Bobst Library.

- The Health Leadership Program, consisting of 38 trained student Health Leaders, conduct educational tablings on campus on a variety of topics including alcohol, stress, and sleep. They function as health opinion leaders and campus resource referral agents. In addition, they provide bystander intervention training to other students leaders on campus.

- The Step Up NYU bystander intervention training program is being implemented on campus with student leaders as part of their leadership training. Participants learn strategies to help their friends safely, early and effectively in challenging situations involving alcohol, sexual violence and emotional distress, among others.

- HPO continues to provide programming around alcohol and other drugs, sexual assault, healthy eating, stress, etc., through its Peer Education Program. Blood alcohol content cards are distributed to all attendees of the Reality Show in August and further distributed throughout the year. For the Fall (August) 2011-Spring (March) 2012 academic year, professional and student educators reached approximately 6,108 students with health education programming. An additional 1,372 students visited the Health Promotion Office for safer sex supplies, information and/or other services.

- The Wellness Expo, an annual wellness fair, is conducted each fall to educate new and returning students about the many resources available to them at NYU. Professional staff and trained peer educators staff the event, which includes informational booths on University services provided by the SHC, the Wellness Exchange, Public Safety, Residence Life, and the Center for Multicultural Education and Programs, among others. The Fall 2011 Expo was attended by 2,879+ students.

- 7,000 flu vaccines were administered this year both in the Student Health Center as well as through various outreach events on campus. This service will continued to be offered in the future.

Mental Health

Utilization:
During the last academic year, the Counseling and Wellness Services (CWS) conducted 41,013 visits, (in the form of appointments, clinical groups and emergency response interventions) to 6,981 unique students representing a 6.8% increase over the 2010-11 academic year. In addition, there has been a 6.6% increase in student hospitalizations for mental health reasons comparing the time period of Sept-Feb 2011 and Sept-Feb 2012.

New Staff:
The Staff of Counseling and Wellness Services at SHC now has colleagues in 6 different countries (Paris, London, Florence, Shanghai, Berlin and Abu Dhabi). For the first time, SHC has appointed mental health clinicians who are full employees of NYU to treat students at our Global sites. These professionals are credentialed by the SHC and are therefore able to use our electronic health record. By having clinicians working at our sites abroad we are able to provide students with an improved quality of care.

Health and Wellness Orientation:
CWS also assists in guiding the content for three versions of our award winning health orientation theatrical production, The Reality Show. For the first time last fall, in collaboration with Speaker Christine Quinn’s office, we held a NYC show where we invited college students from all over New York City. Attendees included approximately 200 students from the CUNY system, Fordham, Pace, Columbia and others. We continue to host the NYU show in combination with the Presidential Welcome and the NYUAD version of the show entitled “The Real AD Show.”

Training:
Training continues to assist faculty and staff in detecting changes in a student’s behavior that may signal a more serious problem. We have delivered this training to a number of administrative units and academic departments at NYU. We estimate that 300 faculty and staff have attended these trainings in the 2010-11 academic year. For the first time this year, we will also train student leaders – all 300 Resident Assistants along with all health peer educators – to be able to detect peers in distress and refer them appropriately to mental health services.

Moses Center for Students with Disabilities
The Moses Center for Students with Disabilities works with The Office of Residential Life and Housing Services to develop a comprehensive list of students who live in a residence hall who may have difficulty self-evacuating during an emergency or emergency drill. The list is shared with representatives from the residence halls and staff work with other staff and students to determine evacuation plans.
Student Safety in Residence Halls

There are approximately 10,806 students living in 21 locations, with around 7,000 students located around the Washington Square and Union Square areas. Each residence hall is staffed 24/7 with several levels of individuals involved in student safety, including public safety officers, Resident Assistants, Residence Hall Resource Managers, Residence Hall Assistant Directors, and Residence Hall Directors. Furthermore, student and professional staff members are on call 24/7 to assist residents and respond to emergencies. Residence hall staff members are trained in crisis response protocols and work closely with the Department of Public Safety, the Counseling and Wellness Services, and the Student Health Center. Approximately 285 RAs received such training for the 2011-2012 academic year.

Role of Residence Life Staff in Regard to Key Health and Safety Considerations:

A. Access to residence halls: Access is granted only by showing hall-specific University identification or swiping through turnstiles. Turnstiles have been installed in all residence halls. The turnstile system allows a residential student to swipe into any residence hall. Residential students are also directed to swipe out when leaving the hall. Any guest to a residence hall must have valid photo identification and be signed in and out by a resident of that building. Individuals whose presence in a residence hall is considered to jeopardize the well-being of the residence hall community are declared Persona Non Grata and, as enforced by the Department of Public Safety, are denied entrance to University residence halls.

B. Alcohol and Other Substances: The number of fall semester substance-related violations increased in the past year. During the fall of 2010, there were 1,003 students found responsible for alcohol violations and 190 violations involving other substances (mostly marijuana). In the fall of 2011, there were 1,023 alcohol violations and 244 violations involving other substances. In response, in conjunction with the Office of Community Standards, Residence Life and Housing Services has taken measures such as general letters to the hall community, and enhanced sanctions for those determined to have been involved.

1. Emergency Transports: The number of residential students transported to the hospital during the fall semester for substance-related medical emergencies increased slightly going from 40 in the fall of 2010 to 46 in the fall of 2011. However, the number of medical emergencies is still down from our peak in the 2009-2010 academic year. As of the end of March 2012, the total number of substance-related transports was 74, compared to 68 in the spring of 2011.

2. Informed Choices: Informed Choices Marijuana (ICM) and Informed Choices Alcohol (ICA) are group educational interventions for students who are found responsible for low-level alcohol or marijuana policy violations. The program was developed to assist students in making more responsible decisions surrounding their substance use to emphasize harm reduction at both the individual and community level. Over the past several years, there is evidence that students who attended Informed Choices have a lower recidivism rate than those who received only a written warning or probation. In addition, self-report data suggests that students become more aware of the impact of their use of alcohol and marijuana upon the community and incorporate that awareness into their related decision-making.

   a. Informed Choices Alcohol – Since September 2011, 296 residents have been sanctioned to Informed Choices-Alcohol. Although the number of students referred to Informed Choices-Alcohol is lower than in the 2010-2011 academic year, this sanction is being used more purposefully for students who the hearing officer would benefit from a group educational intervention.

b. Informed Choices Marijuana - Since September 2011, 175 residents have been sanctioned to Informed Choices-Marijuana. This number of referrals is in line with the increase in students being held accountable for violations of the policy on substance use.

C. Assistance with Mental Health Concerns: The Residence Life Staff works in conjunction with other University offices to address matters involving students in regard to whom there are concerns about their well-being and/or safety. The role of the residence life program involves referrals of students to Wellness Services [including students who may feel unsafe as the result of being a victim of an incident as well as for other reasons], “check-ins” to assure the safety of students, and assistance with transports to the hospital. During the academic year, approximately 3-4 such check-ins are conducted weekly. With respect to hospitalizations, so far during the current academic year, 49 residential students have been transported and admitted for inpatient psychiatric treatment. [At this point during the 2010-2011 academic year, there had been 34 such hospitalizations. This represents a 30% increase in residential student psych hospitalizations from the corresponding period from last year]

D. Fire Safety: Each year, the Office of Residential Life and Housing Services coordinates residential fire drills and fire safety education initiatives. The drills are conducted four times per year; twice in the fall, once in the spring, and once in the summer at a time during which students are likely to be home. The drills represent a collaborative effort between Residential Life and Housing Services, Public Safety, and Facilities. Fire safety education is centered on two weeks in the Fall semester during which Residential Life staff conduct passive and active educational campaigns designed to foster knowledge and safety strategies. During the fire safety education period, Residential Life staff also conducted fire safety inspections of each student room to remove hazardous objects from the residence halls. The staff also assists the Departments of Public Safety and Facilities & Construction Management in tracking the number of incidents involving fire safety (numbers are maintained by Public Safety) that occur in the residence halls each year.

E. General Programs: Each year, the residence life staff educates residents on matters of personal and community safety through floor meetings, bulletin board displays, and floor/hall workshops. A wide variety of related issues have been addressed in this way.
Office of Community Standards
University Senate Report
April 2012

OFFICE OF COMMUNITY STANDARDS AT NEW YORK UNIVERSITY

Mission: Academic communities exist to facilitate the process of acquiring and exchanging knowledge and understanding, to enhance the personal and intellectual development of its members, and to advance the interests of the larger society. Essential to this mission is that all members of the University community must be safe and free to engage in a civil process of teaching and learning through their experiences both in and outside the classroom and, while doing so, to access and utilize the University programs and services that exist to complement these educational/developmental goals. The purpose of the Office of Community Standards is to work collaboratively with other institutional units to address behavior by students that disrupts the educational process or creates a hostile learning environment by interfering with the exchange of concepts and ideas; disrupts University educational and social activities; interferes with the administration of a classroom or a campus service; or compromises the personal, academic or social well-being of another.

Organizational Structure: At NYU, there is no single office that handles all disciplinary cases. Jurisdiction over incidents that arise within an academic program/setting are managed by the school in which the student is enrolled. Cases that arise at Global sites are managed by the staff at that site in consultation with the Global Programs Office and the Office of Community Standards. Student discipline cases that transcend the interests of more than a single academic school are considered through the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs, specifically by the Office of Community Standards and Compliance.

CORE FUNCTIONS:

Student Conduct Function: The office serves a University-wide coordinating role in addressing matters of student conduct by directly resolving cases and by working with other units in a consulting and advisory capacity. The office has jurisdiction over matters involving alleged violations of the University Rules of Student Conduct and related University policies. The office also oversees the management of violations of Residence Hall policies by coordinating the resolution of cases at the residence hall level or by directly adjudicating cases in the Office of Community Standards (utilizing Department of Residence Life and Housing Services procedures) as the circumstances warrant. The Office also oversees the management of allegations of violative behavior by recognized student groups by coordinating the management of such cases through the Office of Student Activities or by directly adjudicating cases in the Office of Community Standards as the circumstances warrant.
Student Development Function: The function of the Office is developmental in nature in that it strives to address incidents of behavior that disrupt others or violate University policies by taking steps to encourage offenders to be more aware of the importance of community standards and the related procedures, to recognize the impact of their behavior on others, to become more respectful of the rights and interests of others, and to refrain from engaging in further behavior that compromises the academic, personal or social well-being of others or themselves. While this process typically involves the application of sanctions that place parameters on a student’s behavior, it is important to note that the function of the Office of Community Standards is not limited to rendering quasi-judicial decisions and imposing punitive measures.

Student Grievance Procedure Function: The grievance procedures are available to any New York University student who seeks to resolve any grievance involving an alleged violation directly affecting that student, by any member of the University community while acting in an official capacity (e.g. faculty member, administrator, staff member), of any of the written policies of the University or the school in which the student is enrolled. The Office of Community Standards has responsibility for overseeing (through the University Judicial Board) the final appeal phase of the Student Grievance Procedure which affords students a venue to address complaints that an administrator/office has failed to follow the established policies and procedures in a matter involving that student.

Sexual Misconduct and other Forms of Harassment Function: The office serves in an advisory and referral capacity to students who believe they have been the victim of bias, discrimination and/or harassment related to their gender, sex, race, religion, sexual orientation, national origin, or other protected characteristics by working in conjunction with the Office of the Executive Director of Equal Opportunity. Should it be determined that disciplinary action against an alleged student perpetrator is necessary/appropriate, the Office of Community Standards may take such action.

Compliance Function: The office assists other University and Division of Student Affairs units in meeting their respective obligations in complying with certain University policies and federal, state and local laws that are applicable to those offices

Consulting and Advisement Function: The Office of Community Standards and Compliance serves as the “hub” of the University student conduct process by providing administrative, consultative, record management and other forms of support to administrators in other University offices as well as to those at global campus centers who are charged with managing matters of student conduct.

STATISTICS:

As of June 1, 2011 and until this date, the Office of Community Standards has received and reviewed about 3500 reports including those filed by residence life staff members as well as by administrators in other University offices. These reports included the names of approximately 8500 students who were cited because they were reporting an incident, present during an incident, were a witness, or accused of a violation. Each report had to be read and reviewed. Ultimately, about 3400 students were determined to have violated a University policy. Each of these students had an individual meeting with a professional staff member in the Division of Student Affairs. Most of those meeting took place and the issues resolved at the residence hall level through discussions with the Residence Hall Director or Assistant Director. About 350 of those students were involved in what were considered to be more serious incidents or were repeat offenders and, due to those circumstances, were referred directly to the Office of Community Standards for adjudication. Finally, the office has advised/consulted and provided supportive service in relation to approximately 255 matters that arose in other University offices and at the Global sites.

ENHANCEMENTS:

Global Academic Centers: We continue to refine the formal student conduct process which was developed to establish procedures by which conduct issues that arise at one of the University’s global academic centers are managed. The procedures standardize the process, to the extent possible given the inherent site differences, and set forth the circumstances under which cases are referred to the Office of Community Standards for University level intervention. This process has proven to be effective and has moved the student conduct process toward being an integrated University wide function. However, the process requires coordination. Accordingly, a new ½ time position (Global Community Standards Administrator) was created to serve as a dedicated liaison between the Office of Community Standards and the Office of Global Programs and respective sites.

Student Conduct Database: “Advocate”, the online database which we have put into place to record and track student conduct records has had a significant impact on the management of conduct cases. This University-wide database is accessible by the academic units, Global Sites, and key offices and has allowed for more informed disciplinary interventions and sharing of information.

Student Development: The Office of Community Standards has worked hard to promulgate a philosophical approach to student conduct that is based on the concept of “behavioral interventions” as opposed to “judicial decisions” in addressing student conduct. The purpose is to challenge students to consider their behavioral choices and to take steps to become more self-regulating instead of merely punishing them through the imposition of disciplinary sanctions. Of course, the imposition of sanctions remains an important tool in that they tend to create behavioral parameters for students that serve to protect the interests of the general community. And, student whose behavior seriously compromises the well-being of the University community are still subject to temporary or permanent separation from the University as the situation warrants.

NEWS

On April 23, Mayor Bloomberg publicly announced that NYU’s proposed Center for Urban Science and Progress (CUSP) – an applied science and engineering institute that will conduct research, support graduate study, and fashion real-world technologies to address the challenges of an increasingly urbanized planet -- has been selected as a winner of the Applied Sciences NYC initiative. CUSP is expected ultimately to make its home at 370 Jay St. in Downtown Brooklyn. It will welcome its first students in September 2013; at full strength, it will grow to more than 400 Masters and 100 Ph.D. students and 50 full-time faculty and researchers. In this exciting endeavor, NYU and NYU-Poly will lead a consortium of university and corporate partners: Carnegie Mellon University, CUNY, Indian Institute of Technology – Bombay, University of Toronto, University of Warwick, IBM, Cisco, Siemens, Con Edison, National Grid, Xerox, Arup, IDEO, and AECOM. A renowned scientist, Steven Koonin – a theoretical physicist who has served as the Undersecretary of Energy for Science, Provost at California Institute of Technology, and Chief Scientist for BP – has been named as Director of CUSP. I want to thank our colleagues here at NYU and NYU-Poly who have worked so hard over the last two years to develop CUSP, and we extend a warm welcome to Steve Koonin.

The NYU 2031 Core plan – the University’s proposal for expansion on the superblocks south of Washington Square – is continuing to make its way through the City’s Uniform Land Use Review Procedure (ULURP). Last week, the City Planning Commission held a public hearing on the plan. The commission’s decision is due in early June. Updated information is available online at: http://www.nyu.edu/nyu2031/nyuinyc/

The Corporation for National and Community Service has named NYU to the 2012 President’s Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll with Distinction. For five of the last six years, NYU has been named to the Honor Roll with Distinction, which recognizes institutions of higher education that exemplify community service and achieve meaningful outcomes in their communities. In the 2011-12 academic year, more than 15,000 NYU students participated in community service.

RECENT APPOINTMENTS AND SEARCHES

Jeffrey S. Lehman, a leader in higher education in both the U.S. and China and an esteemed legal scholar, has been named Vice Chancellor of NYU Shanghai. Lehman, the former president of Cornell University and dean of the University of Michigan Law School, is currently Chancellor and Founding Dean of the Peking University School of Transnational Law. In his role as vice chancellor, effective this summer, he will be the chief executive of NYU Shanghai, in charge of all academic and administrative operations. In addition, Yu Lizhong, currently president of East China Normal University (ECNU), has been named Chancellor of NYU Shanghai. Under his leadership, ECNU has embarked upon an ambitious path of growth and internationalization. As chancellor, he will serve as Chairman of the Board of NYU Shanghai. I welcome and congratulate them both.

Lauren Benton, leading scholar of global legal history and currently Dean for the Humanities at NYU, has been appointed Dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Science, effective September 1. Since joining the NYU faculty as a professor of history in 2003, she has been an outstanding leader in her many roles, which have included chair of the Department of History and currently Dean for the Humanities, as well as an affiliate faculty appointment in the School of Law. I offer my sincere thanks to Mal Semple, who has served with great distinction as Acting Dean of GSAS since 2010.

Eileen Sullivan-Marx has been named Dean of the College of Nursing, effective July 1. Currently Professor of Scholarly Practice and Associate Dean for Practice & Community Affairs at the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing, she is known for her leadership and innovation in caring for older adults, earning accolades for her oversight of the School’s community programs. As we welcome Dean Sullivan-Marx, we also warmly thank Judi Haber for her excellent service as Interim Dean.

After seven years as President of NYU-Poly, Jerry Hultin has decided to step down from that post by the summer of 2013. From his leadership in forging the historic partnership between NYU-Poly and NYU, to his key role in the development of CUSP and the formation of NYU Abu Dhabi, to a tenure that has seen a significant increase in the average SAT score of incoming freshmen and expansion of NYU-Poly’s campus, Jerry’s record is one of significant achievement. We are pleased that he has agreed to serve as a Senior Presidential Fellow for NYU following the appointment of his successor. NYU Senior Vice Provost and NYU-Poly Provost Katepalli Sreenivasan has agreed to serve as head of the search committee for a new post that will be president of Poly and dean of engineering at NYU.
Provost David McLaughlin has asked the team that has led SCPS since Robert Lapiner stepped down as dean – Rick Matasar, Vice President for University Enterprise Initiatives; Bjorn Hanson, Co-Interim Dean and Divisional Dean of the Tisch Center for Hospitality, Tourism, and Sports Management; and Dennis DiLorenzo, Co-Interim Dean and Associate Dean for Administration – to lead a comprehensive strategic planning exercise for SCPS. Because this exercise will help define SCPS’ future path, the search for a new dean will be deferred until the strategic review is complete, a period of approximately 18 months. During that time, we will maintain the current leadership of the school. In addition, Dennis DiLorenzo has been named Vice Dean in recognition of his excellent performance in the academic, administrative, and operational functions of SCPS.

Rosemary Scanlon, clinical associate professor of economics at SCPS, has been named divisional dean of the NYU Schack Institute of Real Estate. She has served as interim divisional dean since October. An expert in the areas of urban and regional economics, she joined the NYU Schack faculty in 2000 after serving as New York State Deputy Comptroller and chief economist for the Port Authority of New York & New Jersey.
