DEAR NEW STUDENT,

Welcome to New York University! The Office of Undergraduate Admissions has told me you’ve chosen to join our exceptional community of scholars, scientists, athletes, innovators, change agents, artists, entrepreneurs, hackers, and academics from around the world.

To help you prepare for a smooth arrival on campus, this guide features action items to complete over the summer and various communications that you can expect to receive via mail and email. These include some of the most important deadlines, but are not the full list — stay tuned to nyu.edu/nextstop for the latest information. Your school or program will also send details about orientation and course registration in June.

All official communications will be sent to your NYU email address. Please activate your account now at start.nyu.edu — and check your inbox regularly.

I hope that Next Stop NYU communications help ease your transition to NYU and turn anxiety into pure anticipation and excitement.

On that note, we may be visiting a city near you to host a New Student Send-Off this summer. We’d love for you to register and attend if you live nearby. Look for details on the Next Stop NYU web page at nyu.edu/nextstop.

I wish you and your family a terrific summer, and look forward to greeting you on campus in August!

With all best wishes,

Marc Wais
Senior Vice President for Student Affairs

This schedule shows important dates for most students, but it might not be a complete list of deadlines for everyone. Please supplement the information on these pages with communications from other University offices. Not all deadlines will apply to all students, and dates may vary based on your date of admission.
MAY 1
Housing Application
RESIDENTIAL LIFE AND HOUSING SERVICES
Freshmen who are interested in living on campus must complete the online application and submit the $1000 housing reservation payment to guarantee placement for the 2018-2019 academic year.
Transfer students are not guaranteed housing and are encouraged to actively seek off-campus housing arrangements; however, non-renewable (non-guaranteed) housing applications may be completed for possible consideration.

MAY 4
Register for New Student Send-Offs
ALUMNI RELATIONS
Held annually prior to the Fall semester, Send-Offs are an opportunity for new students and their parents to meet others from their area before arriving at NYU in August. Hosted by current NYU families and NYU alumni, these casual receptions give you the opportunity to network with fellow students, learn what to expect when you arrive at NYU, and ask all of your last-minute questions.

Class Registration, Orientation, and Advisement Details
YOUR SCHOOL OR PROGRAM
Starting on this date — and through the end of summer — stay tuned for school-specific information on class registration, advisement, and new student orientation.

FINANCIAL EDUCATION

Make Sound Financial Decisions Using iGrad

NYU has partnered with iGrad, an online financial education tool, to ensure students and their families have access to customized resources that will expand their knowledge of personal finance. iGrad helps you answer questions like how to make an NYU education possible, how to manage your financial needs, how to create a monthly budget, and how to navigate the student loan process.

To get started, create a free account and answer a few questions about your current status — iGrad will automatically recommend relevant articles, tools, and topics. Once you create a private account, you can measure your financial literacy health and keep track of student loan accounts.

nyu.edu/igrad

When you’re on campus, the StudentLink Center lets you access in-person help with your bill, financial aid, study away, international student services, and other questions.

nyu.edu/studentlink
The preliminary cost of attendance shown below is the amount that NYU anticipates it will cost a student to attend the University for one academic year. This cost is estimated at time of publication, and is not the same as the bill a student receives. Your bill will only include charges payable directly to NYU — such as tuition, registration fees, and housing — while the cost listed below also includes indirect educational expenses that are not paid to the University, which may include transportation, books, and personal expenses.

The cost of attendance is one factor used to determine how much financial aid a student is eligible to receive. The total amount of financial aid a student has cannot exceed their cost of attendance. This information is provided for personal planning and budget purposes. To learn more, please visit nyu.edu/financial.aid and click on “Financial Aid at NYU,” then on “Tuition, Fees and Expenses,” then select the appropriate link according to your program.

Federal and state laws, and NYU policies, require you to complete various health requirements before arriving on campus.
Before you start at NYU, there are a number of health requirements outlined here and included in the checklist. Why so many? Because of federal regulations, New York State Public Health Laws 2165 and 2167, and NYU policies. Your participation in completing each requirement helps create a safer and healthier NYU — for you and the entire student body.

JUNE 19
NYU Student Health Insurance Portal Opens to Enroll in or Waive
STUDENT HEALTH CENTER
All students are automatically enrolled in a default health insurance plan. This is reflected on your student bill. If you are already covered, and will continue to use your own insurance while at NYU, log on to waive the default health insurance and have it removed from your bill. An insurance brochure with benefits and premiums is available online and will be emailed to you in June.

nyu.edu/health/insurance

JULY 1
Submit Mandatory Forms
STUDENT HEALTH CENTER
Deadline to submit the Immunization History and Student Health History forms, including the Wellbeing Questionnaire. If you are under 18 years of age, you must also submit the Treatment of a Minor form so that you can access services at the Student Health Center. Failing to meet these requirements can result in de-enrollment from classes.

nyu.edu/health/requirements

AUGUST 1
Complete AlcoholEdu: Part One
STUDENT HEALTH CENTER
All new students must complete the “AlcoholEdu” course online — even those who are over 21, or do not drink alcohol for personal, health, religious, or other reasons. Everyone will benefit from a shared basic knowledge of the effects of alcohol, potential problems, ways to reduce risk, and resources to help ourselves and others. “AlcoholEdu” is presented in two parts. Failing to complete both parts will impact your ability to enroll in future classes. Check your NYU email in early July for an invitation to take the course.

nyu.edu/sexual-respect

AUGUST 1
Complete AlcoholEdu: Part Two
STUDENT HEALTH CENTER
Check your NYU email for an invitation to take part two in early to mid-September. Upon completion of part one, all students must also complete part two; otherwise, class registration may be blocked.
NYU STUDENT HEALTH CENTER
Here to help you feel your best so you can do your best.

Your health and wellbeing is a top priority. In addition to scheduling same-day appointments, you can speak with a medical or mental health professional 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

To arrange medical and mental health support before you arrive at NYU, simply call the Wellness Exchange at (212) 443-9999, or email wellness.exchange@nyu.edu. If your medical history includes a chronic medical condition or treatment by a psychotherapist or psychiatrist, let the Student Health Center know through the Health History form. This will help the medical team learn more about you to better meet your needs. And if you’re taking medication, the Student Health Center can help — just bring your original prescriptions so they can be refilled at the on-site pharmacy.

All students enrolled at NYU have access to services at the Student Health Center: whether you have the NYU Sponsored Student Health Insurance Plan or not, you are welcome to come to the SHC. Insurance details are available in the Insurance brochure, which is available online and will be emailed to you in June.
A full-service pharmacy is conveniently located within the Student Health Center.
Health Promotion
(212) 443-1234
Health Promotion supports your health and wellbeing, whether or not you come to the Student Health Center. The office plans and implements campus-wide initiatives on a variety of topics including stress reduction, sexual health, and bystander intervention to promote healthy behaviors, encourage healthy living, and create a healthier campus environment.

Moses Center for Students with Disabilities
(212) 998-4980
NYU is committed to providing equal educational opportunity and participation for students with disabilities. The Moses Center works with NYU students with disabilities to obtain appropriate accommodations and services. Students are asked to self-identify and make known their requests for accommodations or other support. Staff is available for consultation regarding the definition of disability, the decision to register, submitting documentation and the registration process. Reasonable accommodations are determined on a case-by-case basis and are based on a student’s disability-related needs, submitted documentation, and NYU program requirements.

Student Health Insurance
(212) 443-1020
NYU requires that all students registered in degree-granting programs maintain health insurance. Therefore, all new students are automatically enrolled in the NYU Sponsored Student Health Insurance Plan. You may choose to opt out of the NYU plan if you are already covered (such as through your family’s plan). Insurance details are available in the Insurance brochure, which is available online and will be emailed to you in June.
