DEAR PARENT,

We expect that you are probably beginning to feel anxious and excited about the coming months as you prepare for your student’s first days at NYU.

It’s a major step for many students as they move into young adulthood and an equally big step for you as a parent. Over the past month, your student should have received the beginning of a number of communications entitled Next Stop NYU which we hope have been shared with you. Digital copies are also available online at nyu.edu/nextstop should you like to refer back to them.

The staff at the Center for Student Life understands your desire to be there to guide your student. Our goal is to keep you informed of ways to help your student navigate available resources that will assist them with their new responsibilities, as well as help them in their acclimation as an NYU student. We see your role to be one of support, helping your student transition toward independence, and knowing where to direct them for assistance.

We hope you will take advantage of the information in this guide, as well as on the Parent Resources website at nyu.edu/parents to stay connected and informed.

We look forward to meeting you on Sunday, August 26 — known as NYU Welcome Day and Residence Hall Move-In Day — where you are also invited to attend a short “Parent Welcome” program.

Congratulations on your student’s acceptance and welcome to the NYU Community!

All the best,

Richard Hurley

The NYU Parent website is an entry point to the various resources available online for both you and your student. Sponsored by the Center for Student Life, we invite you to explore the New Parent section for tips on navigating New York University. From the Parent website, you can find dates and deadlines, local hotels, links to publications that help you stay connected with NYU happenings, and an archive of our monthly newsletters. Additionally, staff and students are ready to assist you in navigating the many resources available, to answer questions, and to help you be better prepared and informed. nyu.edu/parents
Join Our Email List

If you have already been receiving emails, then we have your email address. Summer communications are sent as a part of the Next Stop NYU communications. In August, communications will continue, providing important deadlines, parent-related happenings, and campus news through a monthly emailed Parent Newsletter. Join today to stay connected.

ACCESS TO STUDENT INFORMATION

Now is a great time to discuss access to student information with your student. Due to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), access to student information requires the permission of the student. To assist with the sharing of information, there are several portals in which students may provide parents (or other guests) with online access to view their academic and personal records, including tuition bills, Campus Cash balance, grades, emergency contact information, and enrollment verification.

Electronic (e) Suite — For financial account information such as tuition statements, account balances, electronic payments towards a student’s account balance, tax forms, and reminder emails.

Albert Mobile — For guest access to academic and personal records such as grades, address, class schedules, transcripts, academic advisor, financial aid, emergency contacts, and more.

Dining and Campus Cash — To make deposits to Campus Cash or Dining Dollars, as well as view account balances.

Links to these portals, as well as health related access information and forms, are available on the Resources page of the Parent website.

Each fall, NYU hosts Welcome Day for new commuter and residential undergraduate students and their families. Organized around residence hall move-in times and Commuter Transfer Welcome programs, parents and family members are invited to stop by the Kimmel Center in Manhattan or MetroTech in Brooklyn for refreshments, information, to discover NYU departments, local banks and other resources. It’s a great place to meet other parents and students, pick up free swag, and ask questions.

PARENT WELCOMES AND RECEPTIONS

The day also includes a number of “Parent Welcome” presentations throughout the day, including residence hall meetings, school drop-ins, and a Parents of Students of Color Welcome Reception and Panel. Note that there are no programs beyond this day for parents. For event information, including locations and times, visit the Welcome Day website.

NYU Parents Day is specifically designed for the parents of new freshmen and transfer students. The day features a variety of events, including:

- A morning academic program hosted by your student’s undergraduate school or program
- Afternoon workshops covering topics that include the freshmen residential experience, health and wellness, study abroad, commuter life, career development, library services, and more
- A parent reception hosted by the Parents Council and NYU President Andrew Hamilton

On the Parents Day website you will find links to details on planning for the day and other general information including directions, hotels, parking, and frequently asked questions.

Registration for Parents Day opens in late-September. To sign up for a reminder email and other information, visit the Parents website and click on the Parents Day tab.

PUBLIC SAFETY

In Case of Emergencies

NYU has a robust notification system that sends alerts via email and text message, providing direct and timely emergency information. Contact information is pulled directly from your student’s Albert account; it is critical that this information is current. Parents can also sign up for alerts. Review instructions at nyu.edu/alertupdate.

Parents should encourage their students to be actively engaged in their personal safety by downloading the Safe NYU App, which provides critical emergency preparedness information, a mobile blue light, and global resources when studies take them abroad. The Safe NYU app also allows students to communicate with NYU’s Public Safety Communications Center via phone, chat, and email 24 hours a day, all year round.

Additionally, as students navigate the city and the world, we encourage them to share travel plans with others — like roommates, family members, friends, and residence hall staff.

The back of the Student ID Card also includes these 24-hour contacts:

- Department of Public Safety: 212-998-2222
- NYU Wellness Exchange: 212-443-9999

For more information about safety and security, visit the Department of Public Safety website at nyu.edu/public.safety.
