NYU has partnered with iGrad to ensure students and their families have access to customized resources that will expand their knowledge of personal finance.

iGrad helps you answer questions like how to make an NYU education possible, how to manage your financial needs, how to create a monthly budget, and how to navigate the student loan process.

To get started, create a free account and answer a few questions about your current status — iGrad will automatically recommend relevant articles, tools, and topics. Once you create a private account, you can measure your financial literacy health and keep track of student loan accounts.

COST OF ATTENDANCE

The preliminary cost of attendance shown below is the amount that NYU anticipates it will cost a student to attend the University for one academic year. This cost is estimated at time of publication, and is not the same as the bill a student receives. Your bill will only include charges payable directly to NYU — such as tuition, registration fees, and housing — while the cost listed below also includes indirect educational expenses that are not paid to the University, which may include transportation, books, and personal expenses.

The cost of attendance is one factor used to determine financial aid. This information is provided for personal planning and budget purposes. To learn more, please visit nyu.edu/financialaid and click on ‘Financial Aid at NYU’ then on ‘Tuition, Fees and Expenses’ and finally select the appropriate link according to your program.
