NEW YORK UNIVERSITY

SUMMER IN LONDON 2016

BRITISH POLITICS

Lecturer: Dr Scott Kelly
COURSE OBJECTIVE

This course provides an introduction to British politics, and therefore carries no previous political science requirements. It will provide an introduction to the study of politics, focusing predominantly on the British system of government and the historical processes that have shaped modern Britain. The topics include theories of the state, parties and party systems, central government, nationalism, devolution, the Northern Ireland question, and the development of politics and policies in the European Union. The course topics will be approached from a theoretical and historical perspective in the lectures, and applied to analysis of current British politics in the classes.

CORE TEXTS

You should purchase the following core textbook for this course:

The following is also recommended for more detailed analysis of some core issues:

The following may also be useful:

P. Norton’s The British Polity provides a good introduction to the subject.

T. Bingham, The Rule of Law (Penguin, 2011) is a good introduction to the role of the judiciary in public policy.
THE MASS MEDIA

You are required to read at least one English quality paper daily, as analysis of current events in class will otherwise be impossible. Roughly, in terms of political viewpoint, from right to left these are: the Daily Telegraph, the Times and the Guardian.

The Economist provides a good weekly overview and analysis. The Senate House Library holds back issues.

THE INTERNET

The political parties have web-sites, as do most UK papers. The European Union Web-site is worth visiting (www.europa.eu.int) as is the BBC (http.news.bbc.co.uk).

GRADING, COURSE-WORK AND EXAMS

Paper: 40%
You will be required to write a paper of between 2,000 and 2,500 words long. The essay questions are set out below. Please word-process your papers. All citations should be cited in full, e.g. as a footnote in the following form.1 Please include a bibliography of works consulted. The paper will be due at the beginning of week 6.

Exam 40%
The Course features a final exam. You will be asked to answer 2 essay questions in one hour.

Class Presentations and Participation: 20%
You will be asked to do a short class presentation during the term, and to provide brief accounts of the week’s developments in British politics. The class participation grade reflects these assignments as well as overall performance in class. All students are expected to contribute to class discussions on a weekly basis. No Unexplained absences are permitted from this class. If unexplained absences occur they may have an impact on your class participation mark.

ESSAY QUESTIONS

Please make sure you answer the questions. If you wish to write on another topic, please arrange this in advance.

1. Are there any meaningful ideological differences between the main British political parties?

2. “The House of Commons is little more than a talking-shop” – discuss.

3. “The Prime Minister is only as strong as his or her colleagues allow him or her to be” – discuss.

4. Do strong interest groups cause bad government?

5. Will devolution lead to the break-up of the United Kingdom?

6. “Membership of the European Union has undermined British sovereignty” – discuss.

7. “The doctrine of Parliamentary Sovereignty means that the judiciary is powerless to check the executive” – discuss.

8. Would Britain benefit from a written constitution?
WEEK I: a) INTRODUCTION: THE WESTMINSTER MODEL

Essential Reading

Other Reading

R. Heffernan, “‘A Landscape without a Map?’ British Politics after 2010” from Developments 9.

WEEK I: b) PARLIAMENT AND THE CONSTITUTION

Essential Reading

Other Reading

“Constitutional Politics” in Developments 9.
WEEK II: A) POLITICAL PARTIES AND IDEOLOGY AND VOTING IN THE UK

Class discussion topic:
What do the two main British political parties stand for? Are there any significant differences between them?

Essential Reading

Other Reading

“Political Parties and the British Party System” in Developments 9.

WEEK II: B) THE MYTH AND REALITY OF CABINET GOVERNMENT

Class Discussion topic:
Are British Prime Ministers more powerful than American Presidents?

Essential Reading

P. Norton, “Ministers, departments and civil servants”, chapter 18 from Politics UK

Other Reading

“Changing Patterns of Executive Governance” in Developments 9.
WEEK III: a) MINISTERS, CIVIL SERVANTS AND LOBBYSTS

Class discussion topic:
Would Britain benefit from a growth in political lobbying?

Essential Reading

B. Jones, “Pressure Groups” chapter 10 from Politics UK.

Other Reading

“Pressure Group Politics” in Developments 9.

“Anti-Politics in Britain” in Developments 9.

SECTION TWO: CHALLENGES TO THE BRITISH STATE

WEEK III:b) BRITAIN AND EU: AN AKWARD PARTNER?

Class Discussion Topic:
Has EU membership undermined British sovereignty?

Essential Reading

N. Rees, “Britain and the future of the EU”, chapter 27 from B. Jones, D. Kavanagh, M. Moran & P. Norton Politics UK

Other Reading

“Britain’s place in the European Union” in Developments 9.
WEEK IV: A) JUDICIARY AND THE BRITISH STATE

Class Discussion topic:
Should the Courts be made more powerful in the British political system?

Essential Reading

Other Reading

“Constitutional Politics” in Developments 9

WEEK IV: B) NATIONALISM: SCOTTISH, WELSH DEVOLUTION & NORTHERN IRELAND

Class discussion topic:
Is devolution likely to lead to the break up of the United Kingdom?

Essential Reading

Other Reading

“Territorial Politics in Post-Devolution United Kingdom” in Developments 9.
“Power Sharing in Northern Ireland” in Developments 9.

WEEK V: FINAL EXAM