REQUEST FOR EXTENSION OF STUDENT AID ELIGIBILITY
UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT

Financial aid is designed to assist students meet their degree requirements within a designated amount of time. Undergraduate students at New York University are normally expected to graduate when they have earned 128 credits or attended eight (8) full-time semesters, whichever comes first. (Transfer credits, Advanced Placement credits, and Advanced Standing credits are taken into consideration when determining academic status.) Student aid (federal, state, and campus-based) is not automatically extended beyond this period. In certain circumstances, however, the Office of Financial Aid may authorize additional student funding for one or more semesters. To be considered for an extension of financial aid eligibility, this form must be completed by an academic advisor and submitted by the specified deadline. Students should allow approximately three (3) weeks for review and then contact the Office of Financial Aid for decision results.
