Introduction

The university gives you the option to choose a medical plan that works best for you and your eligible dependents. You can choose either the Point-of-Service plan or a health maintenance organization (HMO) - one or more may be available in your area.

Under the Aetna HMO you select a primary care physician (PCP) who will manage your care and refer you to a specialist in the network. Except in an emergency, you do not receive benefits if you receive care outside of the network.

You will need to satisfy the requirements described in this summary plan description (SPD) to receive Aetna HMO coverage.

This SPD provides a concise overview of medical coverage available for you and your eligible dependents. While this SPD contains detailed and important information about your benefit plan, every attempt has been made to communicate that information clearly and in easily understandable terms.

Benefits are determined under the terms of the plan in effect at the time you become eligible for the benefits in question. The University reserves the right to suspend, modify, or terminate these benefits at any time to the extent permitted by law. This SPD does not constitute a contract of employment or guarantee any particular benefit.

In the event of a discrepancy between this SPD and the plan document, the plan document will govern.

Eligibility

Eligible employees

You are eligible for Aetna HMO coverage on the day after you complete a waiting period of three months employment at NYU and you are:

- a full-time member of the Laboratory & Technical Staff (Codes 104/114)

Eligible dependents

You can cover certain dependents under Aetna HMO coverage. You're required to provide proof of relationship of your dependents if you elect to cover them under the plan. This may include a copy of one of the following: marriage certificate, approved NYU Statement of Domestic Partnership form, birth certificate that shows the names of both the parent and the child, final adoption papers, legal documentation substantiating placement for adoption, a court order (from a court of competent jurisdiction) showing legal guardianship, permanent or temporary custody.

Your eligible dependents are any of the following:

- your legal spouse
- your domestic partner whom you registered with the Benefits Office
- your unmarried, dependent child under age 19
- your unmarried, dependent child over age 19, up to age 25, if a full-time student at an accredited educational institution
- your unmarried, dependent child over age 19 if mentally or physically disabled

Your dependent children include:

- your natural child
- your stepchild
- your registered domestic partner's child
- your legally adopted child (or child placed with you for legal adoption)
- a child for whom you have been appointed legal guardian by a court of competent jurisdiction
- a child for whom you have been given temporary or permanent custody under an order issued by a court of competent jurisdiction

A newborn child is eligible for coverage at birth. In the case of an adoption, placement for adoption, custody or guardianship, a child becomes eligible for coverage when: the child is placed in your home, the adoption is final, the date the court awarded permanent or temporary custody or guardianship.

- In order to obtain coverage for your new child, you must enroll the child within 31 days of its birth, the date the child is placed in your home for adoption, the date the adoption is final, the date that you have been appointed legal guardian or the date you were awarded permanent or temporary custody.

In the case of temporary custody, you will be required to submit either another order which extends the period of temporary custody or an order of permanent custody in order for the child's coverage to remain in effect.

If both you and your spouse or registered domestic partner work for NYU and are eligible for a medical plan through NYU, only you or your spouse or partner can cover your child as a dependent under one plan. Both of you cannot cover your child at the same time. Also, your child has to meet the eligibility requirements.

If both you and your spouse or registered domestic partner work for NYU, you can cover your spouse or partner as a dependent under your plan, or your spouse or partner can elect separate employee coverage. You or your spouse or partner cannot be covered as both an employee and as a dependent under the plan.

Qualified Medical Child Support Order (QMCSO)

You or your dependents can obtain a description of procedures for Qualified Medical Support Order determinations at no charge from the NYU Benefits Office.

Enrollment

Enrolling in the plan

If you are a newly hired employee, you have 31 days from the day after you complete your three month waiting period to enroll in the plan. Or, if you move into a benefits eligible position and have already worked more than three months at NYU, you have 31 days from the date you moved into the benefits eligible position to enroll in Aetna HMO coverage.

You cannot waive coverage for yourself. If you do not complete an enrollment form when you are first eligible for coverage, you will receive default Point-of-Service individual medical coverage for the remainder of the year. You will not be able to change coverage or enroll dependents until the next open enrollment period, unless you have a qualifying status change. See Changes in election section.

When coverage begins

Once enrolled, you and your eligible dependents' Aetna HMO coverage will become effective on the day after you complete your three month waiting period or on the date you moved into the benefits eligible position.

If you have a qualifying status change and become eligible for coverage during the plan year, your Aetna HMO coverage will start on the date of the event.

If you are not actively at work on the date coverage is to begin, you and your eligible dependents' coverage will start on the date you begin work. If you are hospitalized on the date coverage is to begin, your coverage will start when you begin work. If your dependent is hospitalized on the date coverage is supposed to begin, the coverage for that dependent will start when your coverage takes effect.

Making changes

You may change Aetna HMO coverage during the year if you have a qualifying status change; otherwise, you may only make changes during open enrollment.

Changes in election

If you have a qualifying status change, you can change your existing NYU medical plan. A change in election due to a qualifying status change must be consistent with the qualifying status change. You must make changes to your coverage within 31 days of your qualifying status change. The following is a list of events that are considered to be a qualifying status change:

- your marital status changes (or you register or revoke a domestic partnership)
- you increase or decrease your number of dependents (birth, death, adoption or placement for adoption, guardianship, permanent or temporary custody)
- your dependent child is no longer eligible for coverage according to the terms of the plan(s) (exceeds age 19 or 25 if a full-time student or marries)
- a court decree that orders you must provide health coverage for your dependent
- your or your dependent's work site changes
- your or your dependent's residence changes
- your dependent's Medicare/Medicaid eligibility status changes
- your spouse's/partner's employer's plan has a different plan year and open enrollment period than NYU's
- coverage under your spouse's/partner's plan is significantly curtailed or ceases
- your spouse's/partner's employer adds new health plan options
- NYU adds new health plan options
- you or your spouse/partner commence or return from an FMLA leave

Changes you make within 31 days of a qualifying status change become effective on the date of the event.

Changes during open enrollment

You may change your Aetna HMO coverage once a year during open enrollment, except as provided in the Changes in election section.

During the open enrollment period, you may do any of the following:

- change your coverage level

All changes in Aetna HMO coverage made during open enrollment will become effective on the first day of the new plan year.

Special enrollment rules

If you are waiving NYU medical coverage for your dependents (including your spouse) because of other health insurance coverage, you may in the future be able to enroll your dependents in this plan, provided that you request enrollment within 31 days after other coverage ends. In addition, if you have a new dependent as a result of marriage, birth, adoption, or placement for adoption, guardianship, permanent or temporary custody, you may be able to enroll your dependent, provided that you request enrollment within 31 days after the marriage, birth, adoption, or placement for adoption, guardianship, permanent or temporary custody.

Cost

NYU contributes 100% of the cost for your individual healthcare. If you choose to enroll your spouse/domestic partner and/or eligible dependent child(ren), you and NYU will share the cost of coverage; a monthly contribution from your paycheck.

You will pay a copay for certain expenses.

Imputed income

If you elect medical coverage for your domestic partner, there are tax consequences because the Internal Revenue Service does not recognize the tax exemption of benefits extended to domestic partners. The non-tax qualified dependent's coverage cost is considered imputed income. Imputed income is the amount that is included in your taxable gross earnings as a result of covering a domestic partner. Check with the NYU Benefits Office for current imputed income values. Taxes on the imputed income amount will be withheld from the paycheck in which your benefit reductions are taken.

Deductible

The deductible is the amount of money a person must pay each plan year for covered medical care before the plan begins to pay benefits. The Aetna HMO plan has no deductible to satisfy.

Copay

The copay is the flat dollar amount you pay for certain expenses. Once you pay your copay for a service, the plan pays 100% of the remainder.

The copays under the Aetna HMO coverage apply to:

- office visits
- PCP/specialist visits
- routine physical exams
- well child care and immunizations
- annual OB/GYN exams
- routine eye exams
- routine hearing exams
- emergency room (waived if admitted)
- allergy testing and treatment
- outpatient short-term physical/occupational/speech therapies

- chiropractic care
- outpatient mental health care
- outpatient chemical dependency (substance abuse) care

Coinsurance

Coinsurance is a percentage of expenses that a person is responsible for paying. You do not pay coinsurance under the Aetna HMO plan.

Annual out-of-pocket limit

The annual out-of-pocket limit is the maximum amount you pay for your share of covered expenses each year. You do not have an annual out-of-pocket limit under the Aetna HMO.

Annual benefit maximums and visit limits

The Aetna HMO plan covers a maximum number of visits per calendar year or per lifetime for the following services:

- chiropractic care - 20 visits per calendar year
- inpatient mental health - 35 days per calendar year
- outpatient mental health - 20 visits per calendar year
- outpatient substance abuse - 60 visits per calendar year
- short-term rehabilitation (physical, occupational, and speech therapies) - 60 outpatient visits per calendar year

Once you receive benefits for the maximum number of visits allowed by the plan in a calendar year, you pay 100% of the cost of any remaining visits in the calendar year. Visits beyond the calendar year maximum do not go against the plan's deductible or out-of-pocket maximum. You receive a new allowance of visits for each new calendar year.

Lifetime maximum benefit

The lifetime maximum benefit is the limit the plan will pay in each covered person's lifetime. The plan has no lifetime maximum benefit.

How the plan works

When you enroll in the Aetna HMO plan you and your covered dependents must select a Primary Care Physician (PCP) who is part of the Aetna Standard HMO network. In general, to receive care from a specialist or other provider who is part of the Aetna network you must first obtain a referral from your PCP.

Referrals

You must have a prior written or electronic referral from your PCP to obtain services and any necessary follow-up treatment from a specialist or facility.

If it is necessary, your PCP may refer you to a non-network provider for covered services that are not available within the network. Service from non-network providers require prior approval by Aetna in addition to a special non-network referral from your PCP.

You do not need a referral to obtain care from your PCP for services for routine vision care and for routine gynecological exams.

The specialist as principal physician direct access program

Aetna also has a program called the Specialist as Principal Physician Direct Access Program where the specialist acts a principal physician. If you have a serious or complex medical condition, you may need ongoing specialty care.

The Specialist as Principal Physician Direct Access Program is a voluntary program. Eligibility is based upon the nature of your medical condition, your need for continuing specialty care, and a specialist's willingness to serve as your principal physician for treatment of the condition. Enrollment in the program must be approved by Aetna. Once you are enrolled, a case manager will be available to answer questions about the features of the program, to assist with any necessary authorization or pre-certifications, and to facilitate communications between your PCP and the specialist treating your condition. You should contact Aetna's Member Services at the toll free number shown on your ID card and ask to be transferred to a disease management representative to enroll.

Network of doctors and hospitals

Aetna HMO's network includes general practitioners, as well as specialists and hospitals. These network providers are selected by Aetna. You get benefits only when you are treated by providers in the network. You can access a listing of these network providers at www.aetna.com and searching the directory for the Aetna Standard HMO network. You will need to enter your user ID and password. Or call Aetna's Member Services at 800-323-9930.

Primary care physician

A primary care physician (PCP) is a doctor in the Aetna Standard HMO network who you choose to manage all of your health care. Your primary care physician provides preventive and routine care like office visits, diagnoses, and treats minor, uncomplicated illnesses and injuries. Your PCP refers you to Aetna's network of specialists and hospitals, as needed. A PCP can be an internist, a family or general practitioner, or a pediatrician for children. You choose your PCP from the network of doctors.

Selecting or changing primary care physicians

Each member of your family must choose a primary care physician. You select a physician from the Aetna provider directory. You can locate the provider directory on Aetna's website at www.aetna.com or by calling Aetna at 800-323-9930.

You can change your primary care physician at any time.

Network of mental health and substance abuse providers

For mental health or substance abuse treatment contact Member Services at the telephone number shown on your ID card before treatment. Member Services will connect you with the behavioral health vendor, and you can speak with a clinical care manager who will assess your situation and refer you to participating providers, as needed.

Network of retail and mail-order pharmacies

Prescription drug coverage under the plan includes a retail prescription drug program and a mail order prescription drug service, both of which are administered by Caremark, Inc. Log on to www.caremark.com or call 800-421-5501 to locate a Caremark retail pharmacy or obtain forms for Caremark's Mail Service pharmacy. Forms are also available online on the NYU Benefits Resource Center and www.nyu.edu/hr.

When to seek pre-certification

Network providers are responsible for obtaining any pre-certifications that are required by Aetna.

Durable Medical Equipment

Purchase or rental of durable medical equipment must be approved by Aetna in advance.

Pre-certification is required for the following maternity services:

- Inpatient stay of a mother and/or the newborn that will be more than:
- 48 hours for the mother and newborn child following a normal vaginal delivery or
- 96 hours for the mother and newborn child following a cesarean section delivery

Your participating obstetrician is responsible for obtaining authorization from Aetna for all obstetrical care after your first visit. They must request pre-certification for any tests performed outside of his or her office and for visits to other specialists. It is up to you to verify that the necessary referral has been obtained before receiving such services.

Mental Health and Substance Abuse Treatment

You do not need a referral from your PCP to obtain care from participating mental health and substance abuse providers. Instead, when you seek treatment for mental health or substance abuse, you need to call Member Services at the telephone number shown on your ID card. Member services will connect you with the behavioral health vendor, and you can speak with a clinical care manager who will assess your situation and refer you to participating providers, as needed. All calls are confidential.

Organ Transplants

Your participating physician is responsible for obtaining authorization from Aetna. It is up to you to verify that the necessary referral has been obtained before receiving such services.

Coverage when you are away from home or your child is away at school

When you travel outside of the Aetna service area or if your child is away at school, Aetna covers emergency care and treatment of urgent medical conditions. Urgent care may be obtained from a private practice physician, a walk-in clinic, an urgent care center or an emergency facility. Your PCP should be called as soon as possible after receiving treatment.

If the provider of emergency services does not submit the claim to Aetna for you and bills you instead, you will need to submit the claim to Aetna. You can obtain a claim form by visiting Aetna's web site at www.aetna.com, Forms Library or contact Aetna Member Services. Send the completed claim form and itemized bill for payment with your ID number clearly marked to the address shown on your ID card.

Covered expenses

In order for a specific service to be covered under the plan it must be medically necessary for the prevention, diagnosis or treatment of your illness or condition. Prescription drugs

Prescription drug coverage under the plan includes a retail prescription drug program and a mail service prescription drug service, both of which are administered by Caremark. Your prescription benefit is the same, regardless of whether your prescription is issued by an in- or out-of-network physician.

Copays that you pay for prescription drug expenses are not subject to the plan's deductible and are not counted toward your annual out-of-pocket maximum.

Your copayment will depend on the type of drug you obtain:

- generic,
- brand-name medication on Caremark's Primary Drug List, or
- brand-name medication not on Caremark's Primary Drug List.

Your copayment will be lowest when you choose a generic drug. If you obtain a brand-name medication from Caremark's Primary Drug List, your copayment will be lower than if you choose a brand-name medication that is not on the Primary Drug List. If you purchase a brand-name medication that is not on Caremark's Primary Drug List because there is no other brand on the market, you will pay the Primary Drug List copayment, which is lower.

If the cost for your generic or brand-name prescription drug is less than the copay, you pay the lower dollar amount. For example, if the cost of a generic prescription drug is $3, you pay the $3 cost for the medication - not the $5 copay for generic prescription drugs, as specified under the plan.

Caremark mail-service pharmacy

Maintenance drugs are drugs that are prescribed for certain ongoing or chronic conditions (like high blood pressure or hypothyroidism) and are generally taken for long periods of time. Use the Caremark Mail Service pharmacy for medications that you need for long-term use, usually a supply of 90-days or more, or for short term use if they are on Caremark's maintenance drug list.

Caremark retail pharmacy

Use a Caremark retail pharmacy for medications that you will take for the short-term, usually a supply of 30-days or less. The number of times you can fill a maintenance mail-service prescription at a retail pharmacy is limited to two 'fills' per calendar year. The third and each subsequent fill of your maintenance medication at a retail pharmacy is subject to a $50 copayment.

Non-Caremark pharmacy

In the event you do go to a non-participating pharmacy, you will pay the full retail price for the prescription. You will then need to submit a paper claim form, along with the original prescription receipt(s) to Caremark for reimbursement. You will be reimbursed for the discounted cost of the prescription - the cost the plan would have paid if the prescription had been filled at a Caremark participating pharmacy - less the applicable copayment. In most cases, the discounted price will be less than the retail price, so you may end up paying more when you use a non-participating pharmacy.

The following programs are some, but not all, of the special programs offered by Aetna. These programs are not part of the NYU medical plan design as outlined in NYU's legal Plan Document. Limitations

In the event there are two or more alternative medical services that, in the sole judgement of Aetna, are equivalent in quality of care, the plan reserves the right to cover only the least costly service, as determined by Aetna, provided that Aetna approves coverage for the services or treatment in advance.

Coordination of benefits

If you or a covered dependent is covered by another medical plan, Aetna HMO coverage has a coordination of benefits feature to prevent duplication of benefit payments.

Coordination of benefits allows the plans to work together to cover eligible expenses. The plan that has the first obligation to pay is called the "primary plan;" the other plan is called the "secondary plan." Typically, a secondary plan will pay when its benefit is more generous.

A participant may be covered as a dependent under two or more plans. Certain rules govern which plan is primary and which is secondary. Those rules follow this order:

- A plan that has no coordination of benefits provision will be primary to a plan that does have a coordination of benefits provision.
- The plan of the participant whose birthday falls earlier in the calendar year is primary before the plan of the participant whose birthday falls later that year (based on month and day only).
- If both participants have the same birthday, the plan covering the person for the longest time is considered primary before the plan that covers the other person.
- If the other benefit plan doesn't have the rules described above, but instead has a rule based on the participant's gender, and if as a result the plans don't agree on the order of the benefits, the rule in the other benefit plan will determine the order of the benefits.

A participant may be covered as a dependent under two or more plans of divorced or separated parents. The following rules determine which plan is primary and which is secondary:

- If the other benefit plan doesn't have the rules described above, but instead has a rule based on the participant's gender, and if as a result the plans don't agree on the order of benefits, the rule in the other benefit plan will determine the order of benefits.
- If the parent with custody has remarried, the order of payment is the plan of the parent with custody will pay first, followed by the plan of the stepparent with custody, and followed by the plan of the parent without custody.
- If there is a court decree giving one parent financial responsibility for the medical, dental or other health expenses of the dependent child, this parent's plan will be primary to any other plan that covers the dependent child.
- If none of these rules apply, the plan that has covered the person for the longest time will be primary to all other plans.

Under coordination of benefits, if the NYU plan is the secondary payer, the NYU plan will pay the difference between the total covered charges and the amount the primary plan paid. The total payments of both plans can't be more than 100% of the covered expenses. The benefits paid by the NYU plan can't be more than the amount the plan would have paid if there was no other coverage, but together with the primary plan, most - if not all - of the covered expense may be paid.

How to file a claim

Two advantages of being a participant in the plan are that you submit no claim forms and you should not receive any bills. However, if you should receive a bill for covered services, please send the itemized bill for payment with your identification number clearly marked to the address shown on your ID card. You can obtain a claim form by visiting Aetna's web site at www.aetna.com, Forms library, or contact Member Services to request a form.

In the following circumstances, the plan will not pay your bill:

- You receive treatment from a doctor or facility in a non-emergency situation without a prior referral from your PCP, or without appropriate authorization from Aetna when required.

- You receive medical treatment that has not been authorized on your referral (i.e., X-rays or lab work).
- You go directly to an emergency center for treatment in your service area when it is not an emergency.
- You receive post-emergency follow-up treatment from a nonparticipating provider without appropriate authorization.
- You receive services that are not covered by the plan.
- You receive non-emergency services from a nonparticipating provider without a prior referral from your PCP and the prior approval of Aetna.
- This plan is not the primary plan.

If a claim is denied

Aetna has a grievance resolution process designed to promptly address member problems. If you have a problem, call the Member Services toll-free number on your ID card or write to Member Services at the address on your ID card.

Or, e-mail Member Services at www.aetna.com. Please be sure to include your member ID number, Social Security number and e-mail address.

A trained professional will promptly address your inquiry. If you are dissatisfied, the next step is to file a formal written grievance with Aetna.

Aetna will acknowledge, review and decide the grievance/complaint within 30 days from the date of receipt of the written grievance. A written notice stating the result of the review will be sent to you. You may appeal a determination to the Grievance/Appeal Committee.

If you file a claim and it is partially or totally denied, you can appeal the denied claim within 90 days after the date you are notified that your benefits have been denied. Be sure to state the reason you believe your claim has been improperly paid or denied and submit any pertinent information that could support your claim.

Your right to appeal a denied claim

Time Frame for Initial Claim Determination

For urgent care claims and pre-service claims (claims that require approval of the benefit before receiving medical care), the plan administrator will notify you of its benefit determination (whether adverse or not) within the following time frames:

- 72 hours after receipt of a claim initiated for (a decision can be provided to you orally, as long as a written or electronic notification is provided to you within three days after the oral notification)
- 15 days after receipt of a pre-service claim.

For post-service claims (claims that are submitted for payment after receiving medical care), the plan administrator will notify you of an adverse benefit determination within 30 days after receipt of a claim. An adverse benefit determination is any denial, reduction or termination of a benefit, or a failure to provide or make a payment, in whole or in part, for a benefit.

For urgent care, if you fail to provide the plan administrator with sufficient information to determine whether, or to what extent, benefits are covered or payable under the plan, the plan administrator must notify you within 24 hours of receiving your claim of the specific information needed to complete the claim. You then have 48 hours to provide the information needed to process the claim. You will be notified of a determination no later than 48 hours after the earlier of:

- The plan administrator's receipt of the requested information

- The end of the 48-hour period within which you were to provide the additional information, if the information is not received within that time.

For pre- and post-service claims, a 15-day extension may be allowed to make a determination, provided that the plan administrator determines that the extension is necessary due to matters beyond its control. If such an extension is necessary, the plan administrator must notify you before the end of the first 15- or 30-day period of the reasons(s) requiring the extension and the date it expects to provide a decision on your claim. If such an extension is necessary due to your failure to submit the information necessary to decide the claim, the notice of extension must also specifically describe the required information. You then have 45 days to provide the information needed to process your claim.

If an extension is necessary for pre- and post-service claims due to your failure to submit necessary information, the plan's time frame for making a benefit determination is stopped from the date the plan administrator sends you an extension notification until the date you respond to the request for additional information.

In addition, if you or your authorized representative fail to follow the plan's procedures for filing a pre-service claim, you or your authorized representative must be notified of the failure and the proper procedures to be followed in filing a claim for benefits. This notification must be provided within five days (24 hours in the case of a failure to file a pre-service claim involving urgent care) following the failure. Notification may be oral, unless you or your authorized representative requests written notification. This paragraph only applies to a failure that:

- Is a communication by you or your authorized representative that is received by a person or organizational unit customarily responsible for handling benefit matters
- Is a communication that names you, a specific medical condition or symptom, and a specific treatment, service, or product for which approval is requested.

Urgent Care Claims

Urgent care claims are those which, unless the special urgent care deadlines for response to a claim are followed, either:

- Could seriously jeopardize the patient's life, health or ability to regain maximum function
- In the opinion of a physician with knowledge of the patient's medical condition, would subject the patient to severe pain that cannot be adequately managed without the care or treatment requested in the claim for benefits.

An individual acting on behalf of the plan, applying the judgment of a prudent layperson who has an average knowledge of health and medicine, can determine whether the urgent care definition has been satisfied. However, if a physician with knowledge of the patient's medical condition determines that the claim involves urgent care, it must be considered an urgent care claim.

Concurrent Care Claims

If an ongoing course of treatment was previously approved for a specific period of time or number of treatments, and your request to extend the treatment is an urgent care claim as defined earlier, your request will be decided within 24 hours, provided your request is made at least 24 hours prior to the end of the approved treatment.

If your request for extended treatment is not made within 24 hours before the end of the approved treatment, the request will be treated as an urgent care claim and decided according to the urgent care claim time frames described earlier. If an ongoing course of treatment was previously approved for a specific period of time or number of treatments, and your request to extend treatment is a non-urgent circumstance, your request will be considered a new claim and decided according to pre-service or post-service time frames, whichever applies.

Note: Any reduction or termination of a course of treatment will not be considered an adverse benefit determination if the reduction or termination of the treatment is the result of a plan amendment or plan termination.

If You Receive an Adverse Benefit Determination

The plan administrator will provide you with a notification of any adverse benefit determination, which will set forth:

- The specific reason(s) for the adverse benefit determination
- References to the specific plan provisions on which the benefit determination is based
- A description of any additional material or information needed to process the claim and an explanation of why that material or information is necessary
- A description of the plan's appeal procedures and the time limits applicable to those procedures, including a statement of your right to bring a civil action under ERISA after an appeal of an adverse benefit determination
- Any internal rule, guideline, protocol, or other similar criterion relied upon in making the adverse benefit determination, or a statement that a copy of this information will be provided free of charge to you upon request
- If the adverse benefit determination was based on a medical necessity or experimental treatment or similar exclusion or limit, either an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment for the adverse determination, applying the terms of the plan to your medical circumstances, or a statement that such explanation will be provided free of charge upon request
- If the adverse benefit determination concerns a claim involving urgent care, a description of the expedited review process applicable to the claim.

Procedures for Appealing an Adverse Benefit Determination

If you receive an adverse benefit determination, you may ask for a review. You, or your authorized representative, have 180 days following the receipt of a notification of an adverse benefit determination within which to appeal the determination.

You have the right to:

- Submit written comments, documents, records and other information relating to the claim for benefits
- Request, free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of all documents, records and other information relevant to your claim for benefits. For this purpose, a document, record, or other information is treated as "relevant" to your claim if it:
 - Was relied upon in making the benefit determination
 - Was submitted, considered, or generated in the course of making the benefit determination, regardless of whether such document, record or other information was relied upon in making the benefit determination
 - Demonstrates compliance with the administrative processes and safeguards required in making the benefits determination
 - Constitutes a statement of policy or guidance with respect to the plan concerning the denied benefit for your diagnosis, regardless of whether such statement was relied upon in making the benefit determination.

- A review that does not defer to the initial adverse benefit determination and that is conducted neither by the individual who made the adverse determination, nor that person's subordinate
- A review in which the named fiduciary consults with a health care professional who has appropriate training and experience in the field of medicine involved in the medical judgment, and who was neither consulted in connection with the initial adverse benefit determination, nor the subordinate of any such individual. This applies only if the appeal involves an adverse benefit determination based in whole or in part on a medical judgment (including whether a particular treatment, drug or other item is experimental)
- The identification of medical or vocational experts whose advice was obtained in connection with the adverse benefit determination, regardless of whether the advice was relied upon in making the decision
- In the case of a claim for urgent care, an expedited review process in which:
 - You may submit a request (orally or in writing) for an expedited appeal of an adverse benefit determination
 - All necessary information, including the plan's benefit determination on review, will be transmitted between the plan and you by telephone, facsimile, or other available similarly prompt method.

Ordinarily, a decision regarding your appeal will be reached within:

- 72 hours after receipt of your request for review of an urgent care claim
- 30 days after receipt of your request for review of a pre-service claim
- 60 days after receipt of your request for review of a post-service claim

The plan administrator's notice of an adverse benefit determination on appeal will contain all of the following information:

- The specific reason(s) for the adverse benefit determination
- References to the specific plan provisions on which the benefit determination is based
- A statement that you are entitled to receive, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of, all documents, records and other information relevant to your claim
- A statement describing any voluntary appeal procedures offered by the plan and your right to obtain the information about such procedures, and a statement of your right to bring an action under ERISA
- Any internal rule, guideline, protocol, or other similar criterion relied upon in making the adverse benefit determination; or a statement that a copy of this information will be provided free of charge to you upon request
- If the adverse benefit determination was based on a medical necessity or experimental treatment or similar exclusion or limit, either an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment for the adverse determination, applying the terms of the plan to your medical circumstances, or a statement that such explanation will be provided free of charge upon request.

Right of recovery

COBRA

This section is intended to comply with the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA) of 1985 as amended, which requires continuation of medical coverage to certain eligible employees whose coverage would otherwise terminate. If this section is incomplete or in conflict with the law, the terms of the law will govern.

Continuation of coverage

You and your covered dependents may continue your current medical coverage if it ends because of one of the following:

- you voluntarily leave NYU
- the number of hours you are scheduled to work are reduced below those required for you to be eligible for benefits
- you are terminated for any reason other than gross misconduct

COBRA coverage also is available to your covered dependents if their coverage would otherwise end because of one of the following:

- your death
- your divorce, legal separation or annulment of your marriage
- Medicare entitlement
- your dependent child becomes ineligible for coverage

COBRA coverage continues for up to 18, 29 or 36 months, depending on how you or your eligible dependents become eligible. If you elect to continue coverage under COBRA, you are required to pay 102% of the cost of coverage in after-tax dollars.

If you are disabled as determined by the Social Security Administration, you may elect to continue COBRA for up to 29 months and pay 102% of the cost for coverage.

Length of COBRA coverage

18 months

29 months

36 months (for dependents)

Reason coverage stops

Your employment ends
You transfer to a position that is not eligible for medical benefits

The Social Security Administration determines that you or your dependent was permanently disabled at any time within the first 60 days of continuation coverage.
You or your dependents provide notice of the Social Security Administration's determination within 60 days of receiving it.

You die
You become entitled to Medicare
Your dependent stops being eligible for coverage
You divorce or legally separate

Electing COBRA

You and your covered dependents will receive election forms and more information about COBRA from EBPA, the COBRA billing administrator for New York University. In the case of a divorce, legal separation, or the ineligibility of a dependent child, you or your covered dependents must notify the NYU Benefits Office within 60 days of becoming eligible to elect COBRA.

If you wish to elect COBRA coverage, you must do so no later than 60 days after the date your University coverage ends or 60 days after the date of the notice of COBRA rights and your election is mailed to you by EBPA, whichever is later. You must pay any cost necessary to avoid a gap in coverage within 45 days of the date you elect COBRA.

If you elect COBRA coverage and the Social Security Administration determines that you or your covered dependent was permanently and totally disabled at any time within the first 60 days of the date of continuation coverage, you or your covered dependent must notify EBPA within 60 days of the determination. The notice must be received by EBPA within the initial 18 months of COBRA coverage so that you and your dependents can qualify for an additional 11 months of coverage.

If a 36-month event happens while a dependent is covered under COBRA, COBRA coverage may be continued for the dependent for another 18 months - up to a total of 36 months.

If you become entitled to Medicare benefits and then lose medical coverage within the next 18 months because your employment is terminated or your hours are reduced, your eligible dependents may purchase COBRA coverage for a maximum of 36 months from the date you become entitled to Medicare.

Required notices from qualified beneficiaries

To elect COBRA continuation coverage, you or your covered dependents are required to notify the NYU Benefits Office in writing within a maximum of 60 days after any of the following qualifying events:

- your dependent child becomes ineligible for coverage

If you have elected continuation, you or your covered dependents are also required to notify EBPA in writing within a maximum of 60 days after any of the following:

- a second qualifying event such as divorce, legal separation, death or dependent child ceasing to be a dependent, or Medicare entitlement
- Social Security Administration determination of disability
- Social Security Administration determination of cessation of disability

The notification must include:

- name
- relationship to the employee
- a description of the qualifying event

When COBRA ends

COBRA coverage ends when one of the following events occurs:

- the COBRA period - 18, 29, or 36 months - ends
- premiums are not paid on a timely basis
- NYU stops offering any group health plan
- the person who elected COBRA becomes covered under another group medical plan and meets any pre-existing condition prohibitions or limitations
- the person who elected COBRA becomes entitled to Medicare after COBRA coverage has started

Conversion rights

If you or your eligible dependents do not elect COBRA coverage when eligible, you may convert to a different individual policy within 45 days after coverage ends. You should contact Aetna directly for more information.

If you elect COBRA coverage, you or your eligible dependents may arrange for conversion, if available, without providing proof of good health, after COBRA coverage ends.

Premiums for the converted policy are determined by the insurance company and are based on your level of coverage.

Administrative information

The information presented in this summary plan description is intended to comply with the disclosure requirements of the regulations issued by the U.S. Department of Labor under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA).

If there is any inconsistency between the SPD and the plan document, the plan document governs.

Subrogation

If you receive reimbursement from a third party for covered expenses as a result of legal action taken to recover your loss, which was due to negligence, wrongful acts, or omissions, Aetna reserves the right to repayment of benefits paid for the same covered expenses.

In addition, if you or your covered family member suffers an injury or sickness as a result of a negligent or wrongful act or omission, Aetna reserves the right to seek reimbursement (where permitted by law) from that third-party for benefits it paid for covered expenses. In such case, you are obligated to provide Aetna with any information necessary to enforce its rights under this provision.

ERISA rights

As a participant with Aetna HMO coverage, you are entitled to certain rights and protections under ERISA. ERISA entitles you to:

- examine, at the plan administrator's office and other specified locations, including work sites and union halls, if applicable, without charge, all plan documents governing the plan. These documents may include insurance contracts, collective bargaining agreements and the latest annual report (Form 5500 Series) filed by the plan with the U.S. Department of Labor and available at the Public Disclosure Room of the Employee Benefits Security Administration.
- obtain, after sending a written request to the plan administrator, copies of documents governing the operation of the plan, including insurance contracts and collective bargaining agreements, and copies of the latest annual report (Form 5500 Series) and updated summary plan description. You may be asked to pay a fee for the copies.
- receive a written summary of the plan's annual financial report. The plan administrator is required by law to provide each participant with a copy of this summary annual report.
- continue health care coverage for yourself, spouse or dependents if there is a loss of coverage under the plan as a result of a qualifying event. You or your dependents may have to pay for such coverage. Review this summary plan description and the documents governing the plan on the rules governing your COBRA continuation coverage rights.
- reduction or elimination of exclusionary periods of coverage for preexisting conditions under your group health plan, if you have creditable coverage from another plan. You should be provided a certificate of creditable coverage, free of charge, from your group health plan or health insurance issuer when you lose coverage under the plan, when you become entitled to elect COBRA continuation coverage, or when your COBRA continuation coverage ceases, if you request COBRA continuation coverage before losing coverage or up to 24 months after losing coverage. Without evidence of creditable coverage, you may be subject to a preexisting condition exclusion for 12 months (18 months for late enrollees) after your enrollment date in your coverage.

In addition to creating rights for plan participants, ERISA imposes duties on the people responsible for the operation of the plan. The people who operate your plan, called "fiduciaries," have a duty to do so prudently and in the best interest of you and other plan participants and beneficiaries. No one, including your employer, your union or any other person, may fire you or otherwise discriminate against you in any way to prevent you from obtaining a benefit or exercising your rights under ERISA.

If your claim for a benefit is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you have a right to know why this was done, to obtain copies of documents relating to the decision without charge, and to appeal any denial, all within certain time schedules.

Under ERISA, there are several steps you can take to enforce your rights. For instance, if you request a copy of plan documents or the latest annual report from the plan and do not receive them within 30 days, you may file suit in federal court. In such a case, the court may require the plan administrator to provide the materials and pay you up to $110 a day until you receive the materials, unless the materials were not sent because of reasons beyond the administrator's control.

If you have a claim for benefits that is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you may file suit in a state or federal court. In addition, if you disagree with the plan's decision or lack of decision about the qualified status of a domestic relations order or a medical child support order, you may file suit in federal court. If plan fiduciaries misuse the plan's money, or if you are discriminated against for asserting your rights, you may seek assistance from the U.S. Department of Labor, or you may file suit in federal court. The court will decide who should pay court costs and legal fees. If you are successful, the court may order the person you sued to pay these costs and fees. If you lose, the court may order you to pay these costs and fees if, for example, it finds your claim is frivolous.

If you have any questions about your plan, contact the plan administrator. If you have questions about this statement or about your rights under ERISA, or if you need assistance in obtaining documents from the plan administrator, contact the nearest office of the Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, listed in your telephone directory. You may also contact the Division of Technical Assistance and Inquiries, Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210. You may also obtain certain publications about your rights and responsibilities under ERISA by calling the publications hotline of the Employee Benefits Security Administration.

The following terms are highlighted throughout the SPD as having definitions. In this section, you will find the definitions for these terms to help clarify their meaning and to provide information to better help you understand the provisions of your benefit plans.

Definitions

Adverse benefit determination

Any of the following that results in the denial, reduction, or termination of, or failure to provide or make payment (in whole or in part) for, a benefit:

- Based on determination of a participant's or beneficiary's eligibility to participate in a plan
- Resulting from the application of any utilization review
- Failure to cover an item or service for which benefits are otherwise provided because it is determined to be experimental or investigational or not medically necessary or appropriate
- Restrictions on reimbursements for services because classified as nervous or mental

Alternate facility

A health care facility that is not a hospital and that provides one or more of the following services on an outpatient basis, as permitted by law:

- surgical services,
- emergency health services, or
- rehabilitative, laboratory, diagnostic, or therapeutic services.

An alternate facility may also provide mental health services or substance abuse services on an outpatient or inpatient basis.

Brand-name drug

Protected by a patent issued to the original company that invented or marketed the drug.

Certificate of coverage

Documentation confirming your last 18 months of health coverage that can help you get coverage without a pre-existing condition exclusion.

Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA)

Federal law that allows eligible people covered by a group health plan to temporarily extend coverage when their coverage would otherwise end, such as when they get divorced or leave employment.

Coinsurance

A percentage of expenses that you are responsible for paying after you meet your deductible.

Copay

The flat dollar amount you pay for a certain type of health care expense.

Custodial care

General assistance in performing the activities of daily living, as well as board, room and other services, generally provided on a long-term basis and that do not include a medical component.

Disability

A condition that causes you to be unable to perform one or more regular job duties.

Discounted fees

Lower fees charged for certain services received through network providers. The plan negotiates these lower fees with providers and facilities affiliated with the claims administrator's network.

Domestic partners

Two people who:

- agree to be jointly responsible for each other's common welfare and to share financial obligations
- live together in a long-term relationship of indefinite duration
- are not related by blood to a degree of closeness which would prohibit legal marriage in the state in which they legally reside

To apply for coverage for your domestic partner, register your domestic partner with the NYU Benefits Office.

Effective date

The earliest of:

- the date coverage begins
- the first day after the plan's waiting period

Employee

A person the University hires to do a job or activities that are controlled by the University (when, where and how to do the job).

Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA)

Job protection and limited benefits for up to 12 weeks if you are seriously ill or injured, for the birth, adoption or foster care placement of a child, to care for the child, or to care for a sick spouse, child or parent.

Full-time

Employees who are scheduled to work for the University for the full, normal work week.

Generic drug

A drug that generally contains the same ingredients and has the same effect as a brand-name drug, but is manufactured by a company other than the one that manufactures the brand-name drug.

Group health coverage

Health plans designed to provide benefits to a specific group of people, like a University, union or professional organization.

Hospital

An institution rendering inpatient and outpatient services for the medical care of the sick or injured. It must be accredited as a hospital by either the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Health Care Facilities or the Bureau of Hospitals of the American Osteopathic Association. A hospital may be a general, acute care or specialty institution provided that it is appropriately accredited as such, and currently licensed by the proper state authorities.

Inpatient

When you are admitted to the hospital and stay more than 24 hours.

In-network provider

A doctor, hospital, or other health care professional facility affiliated with the network.

Medical identification card

A card your health plan sends you that contains information your physician needs to process your medical expenses.

Medically Necessary

Services and supplies that are performed in a cost-efficient manner to meet the basic health care needs of you and your covered family members, as determined by the claims administrator. Treatment is considered medically necessary if care or treatment is likely to produce a significant positive outcome, result in information that could affect the course of treatment, and is no more costly (taking into account all health expenses incurred in connection with the treatment) than any alternative treatment for the disease or injury involved. In determining whether a treatment is medically necessary, the claims administrator considers the following:

- information that is provided on the covered person's health status,
- reports in peer-reviewed medical literature,
- reports and guidelines published by nationally recognized health care organizations that include supporting scientific data,
- generally recognized professional standards of safety and effectiveness in the United States for diagnosis, care, and treatment
- the opinion of health professionals in the general recognized health specialty involved, and
- any other relevant information brought to the claims administrator's attention

Medicare

The U.S. federal government's plan, administered by the Social Security Administration, that pays certain hospital and medical expenses for those who qualify, primarily those over 65 or totally and permanently disabled. Benefits are provided regardless of income level. The program is government subsidized and government operated.

Part-time

Any podiatrist, dentists, psychologist, chiropractor, optometrist or other provider who acts within the scope of his or her license will be considered on the same basis as a physician. The fact this plan describes a provider as physician does not mean that benefits for services from that provider are available to you under the plan.

Temporary employee

Someone who is hired, usually through an agency on a per diem basis, for a short period of time. May or may not have a contract for the specific work period.

Termination date

Total disability

An illness or injury that prevents you from continuously performing every duty pertaining to your job or from engaging in any other type of work for pay.
