Every city has its crime problem. The known hoodlums are easily handled by the police, we know their habits and their haunts. But the silent army of youths who are tough enough to commit ruthless murder... and think they are smart enough to stay within the law... these boys and girls... live double lives. Some are educated... clever... but dangerous as a concealed knife... ready to strike out at anything... or anybody. Only by telling the truth about them in the press or in a motion picture such as "CRIME AND PUNISHMENT, U.S.A." can we understand them... and save them... from themselves.

NEW ACTOR HIGHLY PRAISED FOR DIFFICULT ROLE

(Review)

When the curtain dropped on Allied Artists' "Crime and Punishment, U.S.A.," at the theatre yesterday, the critics and patrons of the local theatre had just witnessed the birth of a new star screen performer.

The cinema newcomer is George Hamilton, whose portrayal of the title role in Dostoevsky's classic novel marks him as an actor of tremendous depth and emotional power.

As the young student who turns to murder and crime, and becomes a schoolboy with a girl, he plays to his role with a naivete that is truly touching. His work is exceptionally well, and he makes a convincing young student-programmer's son, who is eventually murdered by his father, who is also a schoolboy.

From the New York stage, Frank Silvera gives the performance of a lifetime, blending wonderfully with the young student-programmer, and the character and manner of his performance are truly spectacular. The result is one of the year's top screen performances.

Mary Murphy as the girl of questionable morals gives a superb performance, her every move blending excellently with that of her fellow performers, and her work is truly remarkable. She is a new star screen performer.

Two Contracts for New Star

George Hamilton, who debuts in a star role as the killer in Allied Artists' "Crime and Punishment, U.S.A.", signed a new contract with the company yesterday. The contract, which is for three years, gives Hamilton the opportunity to star in films produced by Allied Artists, which he has signed to produce, and gives him the chance to star in films produced by Allied Artists, which he has signed to produce.

Before signing the picture with Allied Artists, Hamilton, who is represented by Hamilton and Associates, which produced the film, was in no hurry with his decision. "Crime and Punishment, U.S.A." has been the most popular film of the year, and Hamilton is happy to accept the opportunity to star in films produced by Allied Artists, which he has signed to produce.

Two contracts for new star.

Mary Murphy Stars Again

Once again, a star role has been given to the beautiful and talented Mary Murphy, who has been starring in films for a year, and is now back on the New York stage. Her current cinema screen assignments find her here with the last part of her role in the film, which is a true masterpiece, and which is certainly a film that will be remembered for a long time.
