THUMBNAIL SYNOPSIS

Madeleine Carroll and Henry Fonda are cut away when, in the middle of a scene, the camera moves to the left. The scene is his last one, as he is killed by the explosion of a minesweeper. Throughout the film, Miss Carroll is often seen in exactly the same position, as if in a trance, staring at the sea. Her performance is one of great tenderness and pathos, and she conveys a deep sense of suffering and sacrifice.

THE STORY

(Not for Publication)

Nerone Buhl (Madeleine Carroll) is a young Spanish girl, who has been living in London for many years. She loves Tom Sarchard (Leo Carrillo), a Spanish nobleman, and together they plan to marry. However, when they reach the coast of Spain, Nerone is captured by the Spanish forces and taken to the fortress of Alcalá de Henares. She escapes and finds refuge with Tom, who has been captured by the Spanish forces as well. They escape together, but Nerone is captured again and taken to the fortress of Burgos.

Celebrating her birthday between the most tense scenes of Walter Wanger's romantic drama of war-torn Spain, Madeleine Carroll is the talk of the production staff when her custom four-ounce tea was served. The story of "Blockade" opens with Norma (Madeleine Carroll) arriving in Spain to discover her father and an associate have been active in helping to form a civil war. War breaks out and Marco (Henry Fonda), a farmer whom the girl has met and fallen in love with, becomes a soldier. Norma's father as an spy and is obliged to arrest her lover.

Relieved through a traitor's alliance between the father's former associate and a Spanish general, she is forced to become the side espionage work and sent to Castelmar as the bearer of a message to an agent intent upon the destruction of a large food for the relief of the blockaded city. The trusted men are engaged in secretly selling their services to the other side.

Rights Wrong

The plot is discovered by Marco as a result of feeling over the plight of the starving townspeople, attempts to influence the outcome.

After a series of dangerous adventures, the pair confess their love and find they have been facing death at the hands of a group of Spanish soldiers. The unexpected happening in the high command brings the story to a thrilling climax.

"Blockade" was directed by William Dieterle, who gained fame with "God of Gold," and who has been the recipient of several awards and nominations for his work on "This Love of Ours," and many other films.

The exceptional cast supporting Miss Carroll and Fonda is headed by Leo Carrillo and also includes John Halliday, Lina Domenico, Vladimir Sokoloff, Robert Warwick and Katharine Houghton. Madeleine Carroll is an original screen story by John Howard Lawson. The production is released through Masterpiece.

Henry Fonda is currently being co-starred with Madeleine Carroll in the British film, "Romantic Drama."
