The most famous story book character of "Sapper" (H.C. McNeile) is back on the screen. Captain Hugh "Bulldog" Drummond, gentleman adventurer and defender of his country, returns with more action and thrills in this classic Hollywood series.
BULLDOG DRUMMOND COMES BACK

John Barrymore as Colonel Neilson assumes various outlandish identities in order to keep a watchful eye on Hugh and his friends as they pursue an old enemy who has kidnapped Hugh's bride-to-be. The trail leads them to a Limehouse dive with trapdoor into the Thames and a misty old mansion with hidden time bomb. Barrymore's versatility of disguise and a fast-paced plot make this a most entertaining entry.

STARRING JOHN BARRYMORE, JOHN HOWARD, LOUISE CAMPBELL, J. CARROL NAISH, DIRECTED BY LOUIS KING. SCREENPLAY BY EDWARD T. LOWE. BASED ON SAPPER'S THE FEMALE OF THE SPECIES.

Critical Comments

"Barrymore entered into the spirit of the film with gusto and gave a delightful performance . . . good action scenes. Best in the series."

THE DETECTIVE IN FILM

BULLDOG DRUMMOND ESCAPES

The first Hollywood entry in the new series is rated as one of the best. Ray Milland’s charming, devil-may-care hero is based on Ronald Colman's earlier performance of the role. Hugh and his ever-ready pal, Algry, attempt to rescue Phyllis from a ring of international spies who have imprisoned her in an isolated castle on the moors.

STARRING RAY MILLAND, HEATHER ANGEL, PORTER HALL, SIR GUY STANDING, REGINALD DENNY. DIRECTED BY JAMES HOGAN. SCREENPLAY BY EDWARD T. LOWE. BASED ON SAPPER’S PLAY, BULLDOG DRUMMOND AGAIN.

Critical Comments

"Ray Milland carries along with dash and verve the best traditions of the story book and screen detective, BULLDOG DRUMMOND."

FILM DAILY

"Entertaining."

VARIETY

"Entertaining mystery farce."
