THE STORY

Jimmy Jervis and Ben Watts (Jimmy Jewel and Ben Warriss), the despair of their Works Foreman and Directors, encouraged by a letter from Ben's sister Joan (Terry Randal), a Corporal in the W.R.A.C. attached to the Northshire Fusiliers, decide to join the Army.

A lively scene ensues in the Recruiting Office, with our nit-wits driving the Recruiting Sergeant (Langley Howard) to distraction before he finally signs them up and posts them to the Northshire Fusiliers.

Arriving at the Camp with other new recruits Jimmy and Ben soon fall foul of burly and aggressive Sergeant Major Locke (Josef Locke), who puts them through their paces in traditional manner, and humour abounds in scenes with our heroes on drill parade, on fatigues and on guard.

A romance develops between Joan and the Adjutant, Captain Derek Whitfield (Tony Pendrell), and their engagement is announced at a week-end party at Derek's home, where Jimmy and Ben indulge in comedy love scenes with the maid (Kitty Blewitt) and W.R.A.C. Sergeant Daisy Bell (Eve Eacott), and the guests are entertained by the glorious voice of Sergeant Major Locke singing "Le Reve Passe".

Back at Camp we find Orderly Room Sergeant Kirk (Antony Oakley) is in serious trouble, gambling debts, misappropriation of Mess Funds, and debts to local tradesman Jameson (Ben Williams) having him at his wits end. In order to keep his creditors at bay he decides to rob the Adjutant's safe, where a large sum of P.R.I. money is kept, and he succeeds one night with the aid of a duplicate safe key, while the troops are at a Concert in the Garrison Theatre, where the principal entertainers are Sergeant Major Locke, who sings Gounod's "Ave Maria" and "Abide With Me", and Jimmy and Ben, who render a screamingly funny version of "Sabre Dance".

When the theft is discovered, Kirk's girl friend, Private Pat Kennedy (Shirley Quentin) plants the duplicate key in Joan's kit, and on this being discovered Joan is arrested and Court Martialled.

Meanwhile, Jimmy and Ben are detailed for escort duty to bring back a deserter from a Police Station in a nearby town. Their prisoner proves an awkward handful, and in an uproarious rough and tumble scene in the Police Station our comedy pair manage to knock him out—but not before the Station is almost wrecked. Clearing up the mess Jimmy picks up a photograph of a man wanted for wife desertion and recognise him as Sergeant Kirk, whom the Police know as Joseph Burrows.

This leads to the Police arresting Kirk in the Camp, and when they prove their charge to the incredulous Pat, she interrupts the Court Martial proceedings at a vital stage and with a dramatic confession completely clears Joan of the charges.

For their astuteness in recognising the photograph of Kirk, Jimmy and Ben are recommended for promotion, and the two blockheads jump to the conclusion that they will be commissioned and promptly rig themselves out in Captain's uniforms, and are about to borrow the C.O.'s car when they are caught once again by Sergeant Major Locke, who chases them for their lives.

What a Carry On, indeed!
