● FURIOUS FUN IN JOE E. BROWN COMEDY!

(Advance Review)

An out-of-the-rut story which moves swiftly from one hilarious situation to another, and a side-splitting comedy climax combine with an unusually strong cast of established screen favourites to make "WHEN'S YOUR BIRTHDAY?", next attraction at the Theatre.

Joe E. Brown, has ever appeared!

Brown portrays a prize-fighter who takes far more interest in studying the stars than in battling brawny muscle-men. Hence his versatility in the not-too-gentle art of fisticuffs is hardly remarkable, and after being on the receiving end of a number of knock-out blows, he decides to bid farewell to the ring, and concentrate on his beloved astrology. However, fate is against him, and the hilarious climax sees him donning boxing gloves once again, and engaging in an uproarious and thrilling fistfight battle, from which he finally emerges triumphant.

In a word, then, this is Brown at his best, clowing in the way that his fans have come to know and love. Charming Marish makes a delightful heroine, and that fine old veteran, Barry, contributes another of his celebrated comedy characterisations. Fred Keating, Minor Watson and Maude Eburne provide admirable support to the three stars in "When's Your Birthday?" which is released by Renown Pictures.

● SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC

GUIDE JOE E. BROWN IN HIS MOST UPROARIOUS COMEDY!

(Advance Review)

The infinite talent of Joe E. Brown was never better exemplified than in "When's Your Birthday?" which opened an engagement at the Theatre. As a comedian of his type, we think there is no one who approaches him in easy versatility, nor any whose flashing expressions are quite so funny to behold. This hilarious picture has the completely novel background of astrology. The subject is ideally suited to comedy treatment. After a series of lessons intended to fit him for a career as an astrologer, Joe is seen as a particularly clumsy bus boy in a cafe where he has the good fortune, by counting the planets, to predict for a gambler the outcome of a race. Frightened, however, he drops from sight to work in a fortune-telling concession. Finally located by the gambler, the three members of the partnership—Joe, the Barker and a girl—are all engaged by the sporting man as his private prognosticators of athletic events. A switch in horoscopes brings about a tragic situation, and the closing moments of the picture find the agitated soothsayer in the act of trying to save himself from extermination at the hands of the middleweight champion of the world! Marish Marsh is the girl in the case, and has never appeared to better advantage. The Barker is the suave Fred Keating, and other members of the cast who do especially good work are Edgar Kennedy, Suzanne Kaaren, Minor Watson, Maude Eburne and Bull Montana, the comedy being released by Renown Pictures.
