

CHRIS BROWN

Robert F. Wagner School of Public Service
Master of Public Administration

Independent Consultant

Chris Brown continues to apply his commitment to social entrepreneurship as a consultant to several organizations. Now living in the Washington D.C. metro area, he sees an opportunity to assist in the capacity-building efforts of the social entrepreneurs while working with political candidates who seek to leverage social entrepreneurship as a means of effective policy making.

Currently, his projects include program development of a business incubator program, fundraising for a public arts initiative, and advocacy for youth development organizations.