Career/Education Background:

I have a BFA in Screenwriting from NYU's Tisch School of the Arts and also hold a Professional Certificate in Publishing. I've always had a love for travel. After backpacking through the Western Half of Panama three years ago, international education became an integral part of my life.

Why do you think students should study abroad?

One of the best ways you can learn about yourself and other people is by exploring different cultures and surroundings. The more you know, the more you learn how to communicate and understand other people's points of view. Studying Abroad educates you by experience and is an opportunity that's worth taking on.

What advice do you have for students who are about to study abroad?

Lead with an open mind, don't be afraid to immerse yourself, and make sure you do your research before you leave: some knowledge before hand to a new place is always valuable and can help make your destination easier to adjust to.
