Project's introduction

The project aims to magnify the senses perception, through daily common acts, distorting and twisting the viewer’s expectations. A girl stands up late in the morning, and by simply washing herself, she distorts the touch sense using sand instead of liquid soap. She distorts the sight perception by looking at herself in a picture instead than in a mirror. She distorts the taste sense by eating spaghetti, while they are really wool threads. She smells a bunch of flowers, but they are kitchen tools. In the end, something falls on the floor, but the sound is completely unexpected.
