As finally discovering the world of smell, he sniffs at his body as going finally to a definite awakening... by doing this, he loses his balance and falls on the shell.

In order to hold himself, he grabs tightly to the shell (close-up) and he starts feeling a touching perception.

Once he feels with his hands, he plunges his face into the shell to feel the same sensation...