2012-2013 Internship List

* This list is provisional and is subject to change.

---

Development Assistance Research Associates (DARA)

DARA is an independent, international, non-for-profit organization, which works to improve the quality and impact of development and humanitarian interventions. DARA has conducted evaluations of humanitarian assistance in over 40 countries across five continents for a variety of government, United Nations and European Union agencies as well as major international organizations, including the Red Cross/Red Crescent Movement. Within the humanitarian and development sector, DARA has carried out evaluations in more than 40 countries across five continents for a variety of organizations, including United Nations (UN) and European Union (EU) agencies. The organization also produces its own self-promoted independent initiatives, such as the Humanitarian Response Index (HRI), the world’s first independent instrument for measuring the individual performance of humanitarian donors, and the Disaster Risk Reduction Initiative (DRRI), which seeks to forge partnerships for risk mitigation and adaptation. Internship openings during 2011-2012 have included: Climate Vulnerability Initiative to work with its program team to research and write the Climate Vulnerability Monitor and copy writing and editing, policy research, and advocacy and outreach for the Humanitarian Response Index, which promotes improved humanitarian donorship among developed country governments. These are competitive and challenging internships for which for strong, committed candidates can apply. http://daraint.org/

---

The Foundation for International Relations and Foreign Dialogue (FRIDE) is a think tank based in Madrid that aims to provide the best and most innovative thinking on Europe’s role in the international arena. It strives to break new ground in its core research interests of peace and security, human rights, democracy promotion, and development and humanitarian aid, and mold debate in governmental and non-governmental bodies through rigorous analysis, rooted in the values of justice, equality and democracy. FRIDE concentrates its work in the following areas: Development Cooperation; Security and Conflict; Europe and the International System; Democracy and Human Rights Policies. During the 2011-12 AY, NYU had one student intern here in the administrative, accounting office but no internships became available for research interns. http://www.fride.org/
Education For Employment (EFE) was founded in recognition of the fact that when young people have satisfying jobs and the hope of building a future for themselves, they help lay the foundations for secure and peaceful societies. EFE is a network of locally-run, not-for-profit organizations that develop and deliver tailored courses for youths with limited opportunity in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region. Youth unemployment is a global phenomenon, and MENA is the region that suffers more than any other.

http://www.efefoundation.org/homepage.html

The Toledo International Centre for Peace (CITpax) is an independent, non-profit Spanish foundation. The mission of CITpax is to help prevent and resolve international and national conflicts and to consolidate peace and democratic stability within a framework of respect and promotion of human rights and democratic values, bringing together official and unofficial parties. CITpax activities are based on its vision as a centre for reflection and action, capable of creating added value to the following areas: providing proposals that contain feasible and innovative solutions; disseminating and integrating these proposals into public debate; dialoguing with governments, international organizations and civil society; and implementing actions concerned with social change, development and the strengthening of institutions.

http://www.toledopax.org/in/

ECFR is the first pan-European think-tank. Launched in October 2007, its objective is to conduct research and promote informed debate across Europe on the development of coherent and effective European values based foreign policy. The ECFR office in Madrid was launched in September 2007 as a research project inside FRIDE. The ECFR Madrid team advocates a pan-European approach for Spanish foreign policy, seeking to make ECFR a platform for the debate of new ideas about that new Spanish foreign policy. ECFR Madrid We wish to become visible in that task using all the communication and advocacy tools at our disposal, such as social media, blogs or audiovisual media. http://www.ecfr.eu/content/entry/madrid
Amovens.com is a ridesharing platform that enables people traveling similar routes to carpool together. By helping students, employees, and road-trippers find each other online, Amovens is making carpooling more fun and easier than ever, and allowing people to save carbon emissions and money. Amovens also partners with corporations, universities, events, and public authorities providing them with a sustainable and social solution for their transportation needs.

Internship offered: Digital promotion and community management. Amovens looks for native English speakers (preferably Americans) with marketing, and social media background with knowledge of Web 2.0 platforms to help launch Amovens campaign to expand to the US. During the 2011-12 AY, two NYU students interned at Amovens – one who was tech-savvy and worked on producing digital media (promotional videos, etc.) and one who worked on public relations and outreach by implementing online marketing strategies via social media.

Fundación Juan March was established in 1955 by the Spanish financier Juan March Ordinas; it is an institution that dedicates its resources and activities to the fields of science and the humanities. The Foundation organizes art exhibitions, concerts, lecture series, and seminars. It administers the Spanish Library of Contemporary Music and Theater in its Madrid headquarters and directs the Museo de Arte Abstracto Español in Cuenca, and the Museu Fundación Juan March, of Palma in Palma de Mallorca.

One of the most prestigious and well-renowned foundations in Spain, the Fundación Juan March has been a pioneer in the area of the fine arts in Spanish society even before the end of the Franco dictatorship. Students interested or with experience in museum or curatorial studies will be eligible for this competitive internship.

http://www.march.es/index1.aspx

Helsinki España-Human Dimension is an NGO that promotes human rights within the university context on an international level. The organization was founded by Princess Monika zu Löwenstein in 1990 and inspired by the Helsinki Final Act, which was signed in 1975 by the thirty-five states of the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe (CSCE), which today is The Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe (OSCE).

Helsinki España has been working since the Moscow Conference of 1990, where it was recognized as an organization in the defense of the Human Dimension - human rights and fundamental liberties. From this, an international network of universities has been created as support for the development of their activities within the university context: the University Network.

Helsinki España is a founding member of the Spanish Global Compact of the United Nations and considers that appropriate cooperation between the business world and universities can contribute to defending the Human Dimension by working and acting... together. Global Compact promotes business participation in furthering the objectives of the United Nations.

Helsinki España is an NGO that promotes the education of Human Rights internationally in a university environment through its University Network, which includes International Meetings, Training Courses and Volunteer Activities. During the 2011-12 AY, NYU students interned at Helsinki to assist them in preparing their internationally renowned training courses with OSCE for international candidates who seek to work in post-conflict zones, as well as their international conference on international terrorism, and assisting the organization with their volunteer/training program with college students and high schools in Spain and the US. http://www.humandimension.net

Intermón Oxfam

Intermón Oxfam is an NGO that links the academic and business worlds in solidarity to collaborate and fight for justice and peace. Intermón Oxfam is primarily made up of volunteers and focuses on fair-trade, education, advocacy and development. They have projects in Africa, Central and South America and Asia and work with local professionals. Intermón Oxfam is part of the global movement to eradicate injustice and poverty and to achieve equal human rights and dignity in the world through solidarity. They strive to stop the cycle of poverty, significantly contribute to the global movement for social justice, and be one unified voice to be an effective motor for change. They organize campaigns to mobilize and education society to act against injustice. This NGO is a new opportunity for NYU students and we hope to secure placements for the 2012-13 AY. http://www.intermonoxfam.org

Hot English Publishing S.L.

The Hot English Group is a unique and exceptional combination of a publishing house and a language academy. Interning with Hot English is a valuable opportunity to observe how a small business is run and to make a contribution to its daily operation. It is a small company which allows for the interns work closely with editors, and directors to manage advertising for the magazine and organize English classes. Hot English is looking for someone flexible with experience in journalism, marketing or education. Hot English Magazine is a leading English resource that focuses on teaching real English as it’s spoken by native speakers. Hot English Publishing SL has years of experience producing English-language material. At present, Hot English Publishing is working with a number of leading companies form the world of publishing. This is a new opportunity for NYU students, and as of January 2012 we have one student placed here, which is proving to be positive for the student. The team is supportive and international, and there are other student interns from a few European and US programs. Students interested in business or in writing