WHAT TO DO AFTER AN INCIDENT

1. Get to a Safe Place

If you are concerned about your personal safety or need emergency medical care, call Public Safety at (212) 998-2222, or the NYPD at 911 (or the local equivalent), or go to a police station or a hospital.

2. Call for Assistance

Call the Wellness Exchange at (212) 443-9999 and ask for a Crisis Response Counselor (CRC), for crisis intervention and to confidentially discuss options for reporting and medical/mental health help.

> Or call Public Safety and/or the NYPD.

3. Seek Medical Attention

(ASAP, within 96 hours, if possible)

> Medical attention can treat injuries, sexually transmitted infections (STIs), and provide emergency contraception.

> Preserve any physical evidence by obtaining a medical forensic examination (if possible, after an incident, avoid drinking, eating, showering, brushing your teeth, combing your hair, or changing your clothes). You can decide whether to make an internal or external report later, but you can only preserve physical evidence now.

> A CRC can go with you to a medical provider and provide support/assistance.
Consider Your Reporting Options

> Contact Mary Signor, NYU’s Title IX Coordinator, to submit a formal complaint, or report an incident online. The Title IX Coordinator can work with you to coordinate further assistance, protective measures, and academic/residential accommodations, where appropriate.

> You also have the right and option to file a report with the NYPD or local authorities. NYU’s Special Victim Liaison in Public Safety can accompany you to a police department or local District Attorney’s Office, or provide assistance to you in obtaining an Order of Protection.

> Visit nyu.edu/sexual-respect to learn more about how to formally report an incident.

Be Kind to Yourself

Remember that sexual assault or relationship violence is never the survivor's fault. Survivors are encouraged to obtain help from the resources listed on this card. You do not have to go through this alone.
CONFIDENTIALITY & PRIVACY AT NYU

Privacy & Confidentiality have distinct meanings.*

24/7 RESOURCES AT NYU

CONFIDENTIAL
Wellness Exchange: (212) 443-9999

NON-CONFIDENTIAL/PRIVATE
Public Safety: (212) 998-2222

*Please visit nyu.edu/sexual-respect to learn more about privacy and confidentiality.
CONFIDENTIALITY

Confidentiality means that information shared by an individual with designated campus or community professionals cannot be revealed to any other individual, including to NYU’s Title IX Coordinator, without express permission of the individual, or as otherwise permitted by law (such as when there is an imminent threat of harm to self or others). Confidential campus and community professionals include medical providers, mental health providers, counselors, and ordained clergy.

Other NYU administrators, however, are required to inform the Title IX Coordinator, and cannot offer confidentiality. Nevertheless, these staff members will maintain privacy to the greatest extent reasonably possible.

PRIVACY

Privacy generally means that information related to a report of misconduct will be shared with a limited circle of individuals who “need to know” in order to assist in the active review, investigation, resolution of the report, and related issues. Information provided to a non-confidential resource will be relayed only as necessary for the Title IX Coordinator to direct an investigation and/or seek a resolution.
