

MIND IN THE MAKING

AN INTERACTIVE SESSION WITH ELLEN GALINSKY ABOUT THE SKILLS
ADULTS AND CHILDREN NEED TO SUCCEED IN THE 21ST CENTURY

Ellen Galinsky (President and Co-Founder, Families and Work Institute) spent nearly a decade working with top researchers from across the country, filming their experiments, and studying their results about how we learn best. The resulting 2010 publication of *MIND IN THE MAKING has been touted by Lisa Belkin of the New York Times as “the next iconic parenting manual, up there with Spock and Leach and Brazelton,” and identifies seven life skills (focus and self-control, perspective taking, communicating, making connections, critical thinking, taking challenges, and self-directed engaged learning) that are essential to success—in school, the workforce, and in life.

This interactive presentation engages participants as they reflect on their own learning, view videos of researchers “in action” sharing studies on the same topic, and apply what they have learned to their own lives.

TUESDAY, MARCH 27, 2012

12:30 p.m. – 2:00 p.m.

Kimmel Center, Room 914

Open to Faculty and Graduate Students
Space is limited. Lunch is provided.

RSVP to family.care@nyu.edu by March 21ST

Mind In The Making* will be available for purchase and signing following the event.

Sponsored by NYU Family Care, the Office of Faculty Resources, and the Faculty Senators Council.