BIOLOGICAL INFORMATION
GENETICALLY MODIFIED ORGANISMS
<input type="checkbox"/> Genetically modified microorganisms and organisms that are not infectious to humans or animals (i.e., are WHO Risk Group 1) and do not interact in a way that could alter animals, plants, or microbiological substances in a way which is not normally the result of natural reproduction.
<input type="checkbox"/> Genetically modified microorganisms and organisms that are not infectious (i.e., are Risk Group 1) but which are capable of altering animals, plants or microbiological substances in a way which is not normally the result of natural reproduction.
<input type="checkbox"/> Genetically modified microorganisms and organisms that meet the definition of infectious substances for humans (i.e., WHO Risk Groups 2-4)
Microorganisms (bacteria, mycoplasmas, viruses, fungi, etc.)
<input type="checkbox"/> Microorganisms that are not infectious to humans or animals (i.e., are WHO Risk Group 1)
<input type="checkbox"/> Microorganisms that meet the definition of infectious substances for humans (i.e., who Risk Groups 2-4)
<input type="checkbox"/> Microorganisms that meet the definition of infectious substances for animals only (i.e., who Risk Groups 2-4)
<input type="checkbox"/> Biological products containing pathogens in Risk Group 1; and those known NOT to contain pathogens in Risk Groups 2-4.
<input type="checkbox"/> Biological products, including an experimental product or component of a product, subject to Federal (e.g., the FDA, or USDA) approval, permit, or licensing requirements.
<input type="checkbox"/> Biological products reasonably expected to contain pathogens in Risk Groups 2-4 that do not meet the requirements of the trade exemption above AND meet the definition of infectious substances for humans.
<input type="checkbox"/> Biological products reasonably expected to contain pathogens in Risk Groups 2-4 that do not meet the requirements of the trade exemption above AND meet the definition of infectious substances for animals only.
<input type="checkbox"/> Patient specimens are those collected directly from humans or animals for purposes such as research, diagnosis, investigational activities, disease treatment and prevention:
<input type="checkbox"/> specimen known to contain or suspected to contain a microorganism in Risk Group 1, or that does not contain a pathogen, or one in which the pathogen has been neutralized or inactivated.
<input type="checkbox"/> specimen with no known serious human or animal disease. [E.g. Tumors & clinical samples received by Cell Genesys]
<input type="checkbox"/> Blood, blood products, and organs for donation.
<input type="checkbox"/> specimen with known serious human or animal disease (Risk Group 4).
