In the interest of protecting the NYU Berlin community, we are closely following guidance around COVID-19 from the Robert Koch Institute (Germany's institute for disease control and prevention), the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the World Health Organization, and the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and adjusting our recommendations and policies accordingly. Your health and well-being is our top priority. You are required to adhere to the most recent policies. Please note that you are expected to attend every class meeting in-person; however, this may change at any point during the semester if local COVID-19 regulations so require. You will be assigned a seat on the first day and are expected to use that seat for the entire semester due to NYU COVID-19 safety protocol.

Course Description

Elementary German I is an introductory course to the language and culture of German-speaking countries for students with no previous experience learning German. The course focuses on the development of communicative competence as manifested in the four language skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing.

Topics include food, people and free time, geography, metropolises, mobility, shopping, sustainable living, intercultural observations, love and emotions. Throughout the course, you will also learn about Berlin and the Federal Republic of Germany today, its landscape, food, and art. Field trips will focus on the active application of newly acquired language skills.

Acquiring foreign language skills requires a great deal of commitment, diligence, discipline, and consistency on the part of the student. In order to succeed in our classroom, please be prepared to spend up to one and a half to two hours of self-study per classroom hour.

Elementary German I covers the first part of a four-part German sequence. Together, these courses (Elementary I and II; Intermediate I and II) will help you develop a level of proficiency in German that will enable you to study abroad in German-speaking countries, to pursue advanced study of German worldwide, and to use German for travel, leisure, and in professional contexts. At the end of Intermediate German II, you will be prepared to successfully complete a proficiency exam.

Course Learning Outcomes (CLOs)

After Elementary German I, students will be able to

- understand phrases and the highest frequency vocabulary related to areas of most immediate personal relevance (e.g. very basic personal and family information, shopping, local area, studies) and catch the main point in short, clear, simple messages and announcements.
- comprehend short, simple texts, find specific, predictable information in simple everyday material such as advertisements, prospectuses, menus and timetables, understand texts that consist mainly of high frequency everyday language as well as the description of events, feelings and wishes in personal letters.
- interact in a simple way provided the other person is prepared to repeat or rephrase things at a slower rate of speech and help formulate what the speaker is trying to say. Students will be able to ask and answer simple questions in areas of immediate need or on very familiar topics.
- apply a series of phrases and sentences to describe in simple terms their family and other people, living conditions, their educational background, daily routines, likes and dislikes and past activities.
- write basic coherent texts on topics which are familiar or of personal interest, such as a personal letter describing experiences and impressions, making comparisons between products and practices in the own and the target culture and formulating personal opinions such as likes and dislikes at a basic level.

Course Approach to Teaching & Learning (CATL)

The German language team aims to create a structured and lively classroom environment in which students from diverse backgrounds have continual opportunities to actively develop their language skills in a fun and communicative way based on the latest research in language acquisition. We act as facilitators encouraging a continuous progression in receptive and productive, as well as intercultural skills within the framework of an interdisciplinary and global education. Together, we reflect on practical elements of local cultures in relation to students' previous lived experiences in other cultural contexts. We are always open to student feedback throughout the semester and will conduct an anonymous survey half-way through the course.

Recommendations for a Positive Teaching and Learning Environment

To optimize the experience in the learning environment, please consider the following:

- Please do not eat during class and minimize any other distracting noises (e.g. rustling of papers and leaving the classroom before the break, unless absolutely necessary).
- If you are not using your cell phone to follow the lesson, cell phones should be turned off or in silent mode during class time.
- Make sure to let your classmates finish speaking before you do.
- Students should be respectful and courteous at all times to all participants in class.

High motivation and eagerness to learn a new language as well as to discover the culture of German-speaking environments are welcome. We behave respectfully towards everyone in the classroom, are kind and supportive in every way and thus create an atmosphere in which everyone is comfortable to speak (and make mistakes) in a new language.

Suggested Learning Opportunities that Relate to our Course

Please use the opportunity to take part in the Tutorial Program and Tandem Program in collaboration with Berlin Kolleg.

Your Lecturer

Florian Ullrich teaches German at the German Language Program at NYU Berlin. He holds a BA in English Literature and Linguistics and an MA in Teaching German as a Foreign Language from Technische Universität Berlin. His academic interests include semiotics and semantics, especially contrastive approaches as well as language policies. In his class, Florian focuses on a communicative approach that enables learners to form useful sentences early on and apply them in real-life. He is also very interested in learning through digital media, be it apps, podcasts or other online tools.

Florian's non-academic interests include politics, history, running and he recently decided to give improving his French language skills yet another try.

Academic Policies

Grade Conversion

Your lecturer may use one of the following scales of numerical equivalents to letter grades:

A = 94-100 or 4.0

A- = 90-93 or 3.7

B+ = 87-89 or 3.3

B = 84-86 or 3.0

B- = 80-83 or 2.7
C+ = 77-79 or 2.3
C = 74-76 or 2.0
C- = 70-73 or 1.7
D+ = 67-69 or 1.3
D = 65-66 or 1.0
F = below 65 or 0

Attendance Policy

Studying at Global Academic Centers is an academically intensive and immersive experience, in which students from a wide range of backgrounds exchange ideas in discussion-based seminars. Learning in such an environment depends on the active participation of all students. Since classes typically meet once or twice a week, even a single absence can cause a student to miss a significant portion of a course. To ensure the integrity of this academic experience, class attendance at the centers is expected promptly when class begins. Attendance will be checked at each class meeting.

As soon as it becomes clear that you cannot attend a class, you must inform your professor and/or the Academics team (berlin.academics@nyu.edu) by e-mail immediately (i.e. before the start of your class). Absences are only excused if they are due to illness, Moses Center accommodations, religious observance or emergencies. Your professor or site staff may ask you to present a doctor's note or an exceptional permission from an NYU Staff member as proof. Emergencies or other exceptional circumstances that you wish to be treated confidentially must be presented to NYU Berlin's director or Wellness Counselor. Doctor's notes must be submitted in person or by e-mail to the Academics team, who will inform your professors.

Unexcused absences may be penalized with a two percent deduction from the student's final course grade for every week's worth of classes missed, and may negatively affect your class participation grade. Four unexcused absences in one course may lead to a Fail in that course. Being more than 15 minutes late counts as an unexcused absence. Furthermore, your professor is entitled to deduct points for frequently joining the class late.

Exams, tests and quizzes, deadlines, and oral presentations that are missed due to illness always require a doctor's note as documentation. It is the student's responsibility to produce this doctor's note and submit it to site staff; until this doctor's note is produced the missed assessment is graded with an F and no make-up assessment is scheduled. In content classes, an F in one assignment may lead to failure of the entire class.

Regardless of whether an absence is excused or not, it is the student's responsibility to catch up with the work that was missed.

Final exams

Final exams must be taken at their designated times. Should there be a conflict between your final exams, please bring this to the attention of the Academics Team.

Students are not permitted to leave the site until their finals have been completed at the designated times. Upon receiving approval from the Academics Team, eligible graduating students may depart the site one day before their school, department or university graduation ceremony.

Late Submission of Work

- (1) Work submitted late receives a penalty of 2 points on the 100 point scale for each day it is late (including weekends and public holidays), unless an extension has been approved (with a doctor's note or by approval of NYU Berlin's administration), in which case the 2 points per day deductions start counting from the day the extended deadline has passed.
- (2) Without an approved extension, written work submitted more than 5 days (including weekends and public holidays) following the submission date receives an F.
- (3) Assignments due during finals week that are submitted more than 3 days late (including weekends and public holidays) without previously arranged extensions will not be accepted and will receive a zero. Any exceptions or extensions for work during finals week must be discussed with the Site Director, Dr. Gabriella Etmektsoglou.
- (4) Students who are late for a written exam have no automatic right to take extra time or to write the exam on another day.
- (5) Please remember that university computers do not keep your essays - you must save them elsewhere. Having lost parts of your essay on a university computer is no excuse for a late submission.

Academic Honesty/Plagiarism

As the University's policy on "Academic Integrity for Students at NYU" states: "At NYU, a commitment to excellence, fairness, honesty, and respect within and outside the classroom is essential to maintaining the integrity of our community. By accepting membership in this community, students take responsibility for demonstrating these values in their own conduct and for recognizing and supporting these values in others." Students at Global Academic Centers must follow the University and school policies.

NYU takes plagiarism very seriously; penalties follow and may exceed those set out by your home school. Your lecturer may ask you to sign a declaration of authorship form, and may check your assignments by using TurnItIn or another software designed to detect offenses against academic integrity.

The presentation of another person's words, ideas, judgment, images, or data as though they were your own, whether intentionally or unintentionally, constitutes an act of plagiarism. It is also an offense to submit work for assignments from two different courses that is substantially the same (be it oral presentations or written work). If there is an overlap of the subject of your assignment with one that you produced for another course (either in the current or any previous semester), you MUST inform your professor.

For guidelines on academic honesty, clarification of the definition of plagiarism, examples of procedures and sanctions, and resources to support proper citation, please see:

NYU Academic Integrity Policies and Guidelines

NYU Citations Style Guide

Inclusivity Policies and Priorities

NYU's Office of Global Programs and NYU's global sites are committed to equity, diversity, and inclusion. In order to nurture a more inclusive global university, NYU affirms the value of sharing differing perspectives and encourages open dialogue through a variety of pedagogical approaches. Our goal is to make all students feel included and welcome in all aspects of academic life, including our syllabi, classrooms, and educational activities/spaces.

Attendance Rules on Religious Holidays

Members of any religious group may, without penalty, excuse themselves from classes when required in compliance with their religious obligations. Students who anticipate being absent due to religious observance should notify their lecturer AND NYU Berlin's Academics team in writing via e-mail one week in advance. If examinations or assignment deadlines are scheduled on the day the student will be absent, the Academics team will schedule a make-up examination or extend the deadline for assignments. Please note that an absence is only excused for the holiday but not for any days of travel that may come before and/or after the holiday. See also University Calendar Policy on Religious Holidays.

Pronouns and Name Pronunciation (Albert and Zoom)

Students, staff, and faculty have the opportunity to add their pronouns, as well as the pronunciation of their names, into Albert. Students can have this information displayed to faculty, advisors, and administrators in Albert, Brightspace, the NYU Home internal directory, as well as other NYU systems. Students can also opt out of having their pronouns viewed by their instructors, in case they feel more comfortable sharing their pronouns outside of the classroom. For more information on how to change this information for your Albert account, please see the Pronouns and Name Pronunciation website.

Students, staff, and faculty are also encouraged, though not required, to list their pronouns, and update their names in the name display for Zoom. For more information on how to make this change, please see the Personalizing Zoom Display Names website.

Moses Accommodations Statement

Academic accommodations are available for students with documented and registered disabilities. Please contact the Moses Center for Student Accessibility (+1 212-998-4980 or mosescsd@nyu.edu) for further information. Students who are requesting academic accommodations are advised to reach out to the Moses Center as early as possible in the semester for assistance. Accommodations for this course are managed through NYU Berlin.

Bias Response

The New York University Bias Response Line provides a mechanism through which members of our community can share or report experiences and concerns of bias, discrimination, or harassing behavior that may occur within our community.

Experienced administrators in the Office of Equal Opportunity (OEO) receive and assess reports, and then help facilitate responses, which may include referral to another University school or unit, or investigation if warranted according to the University's existing Non-Discrimination and Anti-Harassment Policy.

The Bias Response Line is designed to enable the University to provide an open forum that helps to ensure that our community is equitable and inclusive.

To report an incident, you may do so in one of three ways:

- Online using the Web Form
- Email: bias.response@nyu.edu
- US Phone Number: +1 212-998-2277
- Local Number in Berlin: +49 (0) 30 2902 91277
