

GLOBAL SCHOLARSHIPS FOR NYU STUDENTS

There are a number of funding opportunities to help make a semester or year studying at an NYU global location more affordable.

Global Pathways Scholarship

Students who are offered admission by the Office of Global Programs and have a FAFSA or CSS Profile on file will automatically be reviewed for the Global Pathways Scholarship. This need-based award grants eligible students up to $4,000 per semester to cover the costs of studying abroad.

Global Programs Administered Awards

A select number of students who study abroad for a semester at one of NYU's global locations may receive awards and scholarships of up to $3,000. Awards are determined based on the quality of a student's study abroad application, academic record, program selection, and need as reported by the Office of Financial Aid. Preference is given to students who apply by the priority deadline.

Plan Ahead with Global Programs

Throughout the semester NYU Global Programs will offer in-person workshops for financial planning and scholarship essay writing. An online module detailing funding opportunities will also be provided. For more information, email global.funding@nyu.edu.

Benjamin A. Gilman International Scholarship

The Gilman Scholarship Program offers funding for students who have been traditionally underrepresented in study abroad programs. The program provides awards of up to $8,000 for undergraduate students who are US citizens already receiving a Federal Pell Grant as part of their tuition package. For more information, contact your NYU Gilman rep at gilman@nyu.edu.

Additional Resources

Scholarships and grants are available through the Institute of International Education (IIE), National Security Education Program, Diversity Abroad, and many other government and nongovernmental organizations. Many of these awards may be applied to study at an NYU global location.

Employment Opportunities

Regulations regarding a student's ability to work vary from country to country. In some locations, students may apply for positions at the academic center that pay via direct deposit from New York City. For more information, please contact the Office of Global Programs.
