Cultivate your skills in music composition, education, and performance as you explore some of the world's most enchanting cities. Courses are taught by celebrated musicians and scholars and are offered by the Department of Music and Performing Arts Professions at the Steinhardt School of Culture, Education, and Human Development at NYU Paris and NYU Prague, so you can stay on track with your major as you learn in a new cultural context. As a music student, you will draw on the rich musical traditions of Europe and engage with the contemporary music scene to create new and exciting works of your own. Through academic excursions, you’ll learn more about your host country’s unique culture and musical history. Internship and volunteer opportunities are also available if you want to gain practical experience in the industry and a deeper understanding of how globalization influences today's music.
NYU PARIS

Study music in Paris, one of the cultural capitals of the world and a city renowned for its music scene. In addition to music courses at NYU’s academic center on the Left Bank, you will have the opportunity to study at IRCAM, the Institut de Recherche et Coordination Acoustique/Musique, an organization famous for its research, innovation, and experimentation in electronic music and acoustics. You can also participate in workshops, concerts, and lectures during your time in Paris.

FURTHER OPPORTUNITIES

NYU Abu Dhabi and NYU Shanghai offer a variety of courses in music theory and practice. Students can learn more by visiting nyu.edu/abudhabi or nyu.edu/shanghai. Courses offered at NYU Abu Dhabi or NYU Shanghai may not automatically count as major or minor equivalents. Students are encouraged to meet with their academic advisor to discuss their major requirements and degree progress.

BUSINESS AND LIBERAL ARTS

Music Business majors should confer with their academic advisor as to the possible use of business and liberal arts courses to satisfy their degree requirements. A list of courses is available on the NYU Global Programs website at nyu.edu/global-programs.

TEACHING OBSERVATIONS

All Music Education and Educational Theatre majors are required to complete hours of observations each semester in a teaching setting pursuant to teacher certification regulations. These teaching observations are completed before student teaching and do not include any student teaching activities. Music and theatre teaching venues conducted in English are available. Teaching-observation placements are administered by the NYU staff in Paris and Prague. Permission from the Steinhardt music education or educational theatre faculty is required.

NYU PRAGUE

Hone your musical skills in Prague, a major training ground for some of the finest jazz and classical performers in Europe and a hub for the music and film-music industries. You can also intern at concert halls, record labels, recording studios, television and radio stations, theatres, and management companies to gain real-world experience. Throughout the semester, you have the opportunity to go on academic and cultural excursions, including a two-day trip to Vienna, a city famous for its many great native composers.
