

NYU WASHINGTON, DC

Situated in the heart of the nation's capital, NYU Washington, DC, is just blocks away from the seat of the federal government, the world's largest museum and research complex, and more than 175 embassies. While concentrating their studies with global academic pathways in areas such as business, journalism, and politics, students gain real-world experience through professional internships at one of the city's many organizations or companies and network with local NYU alumni. Additionally, students may apply to participate in the Global Leadership Program, which fosters the practice of ethical and inclusive leadership and prepares students to assume leadership roles in the public and private sectors. Access to the city's distinctive and diverse intellectual, political, and cultural life enhances the student experience. Refer to the full list of available subject areas below.

WHEN

Fall/spring/academic year/Summer Session/January Term. Opportunities during Summer Sessions and January Term are often specialized programs with different admissions processes and academic offerings than the fall and spring semesters. Visit the Global Programs website to learn more.

ACADEMICS

Courses are crafted to uphold the academic rigor expected from NYU. Students can select courses from a full array of disciplines taught by an exemplary faculty of local scholars, artists, and professionals.

Students earn 12 to 18 NYU credits per semester. Subject areas listed on the reverse side are generally offered during the fall and spring semesters.

SAMPLE GLOBAL ACADEMIC PATHWAYS

Global academic pathways enable students to stay on track with their major and/or minor by providing clusters of study abroad courses that have been approved by NYU departments.

- Business and Political Economy: NYU's world-renowned Stern School of Business offers courses in finance and management. Students majoring in Business and Political Economy can choose to study at NYU Washington, DC, as one of their required semesters abroad.
- Global Leadership Program: Students enroll in an intensive leadership course with a corequisite of an experiential learning placement.
- Journalism: Practical coursework allows students to go beyond lecture halls with active reporting, participation in press conferences, and attendance at public hearings on Capitol Hill.
- Politics: The US capital provides unmatched opportunities as students study campaign strategy and domestic and international politics.
- Public Policy Minor: Multiple courses in public policy allow students to remain on track with their Public Policy minor.

GLOBAL ACADEMIC CENTER

Close to the White House, the World Bank, and the Smithsonian, and adjacent to the cultural attractions on the 14th Street corridor, the 12-story Constance Milstein and Family Global Academic Center features seminar rooms, meeting spaces, and offices as well as a 140-seat auditorium and an expansive lobby that doubles as a student lounge and a venue for public events.

ACADEMIC INTERNSHIPS

Students gain direct experience in carefully selected and academically supervised internships with elected officials, government agencies, international organizations, nongovernmental organizations, media, and other institutions. These opportunities deepen students' study of politics, law, and society—just steps away from national embassies and the Supreme Court. Students will enroll in a four-credit course to earn credit for their academic internship.

HOUSING

Six floors of the academic center feature student residences. Students share four-person suites; each suite has two double bedrooms, a full bathroom, a furnished kitchen, and a living and dining area. Each floor shares a common student lounge. The student residence provides a 24-hour doorman and security services. Besides security personnel, a residence manager resides on-site, and residential life staff members provide advice, guidance, support, programming, and activities. The academic center is conveniently located near the DC Metro and bus lines.

STUDY AWAY PROCESS

Students interested in studying away can visit the NYU Office of Global Programs website at nyu.edu/global-programs and submit a brief online interest form. The Office of Global Programs considers the unique program requirements and each student's complete academic and university records when reviewing student submissions. Submission deadlines per semester are posted online. After each deadline, the NYU Office of Global Programs reviews submissions on a rolling basis.

Non-NYU students submit additional materials including an unofficial college transcript and an adviser approval form. Non-NYU students should research to confirm when the program they are most interested in will be available.

2022-2023 EXPENSES (PER SEMESTER)

University tuition and fees are $29,084, with the following exceptions: Stern School of Business and Tisch School of the Arts students pay their regular school charges. Airfare, housing, meals, personal travel, visa application fees, and other related expenses are additional costs.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND FINANCIAL AID

Students receive the same financial assistance package at all NYU locations. Those who are offered admission by the Office of Global Programs and who have a FAFSA or CSS Profile on file are automatically reviewed for a variety of scholarships. Students admitted to the Global Leadership Program may be eligible for financial support of up to $9,500 per semester, in addition to a student's current financial aid package. Global Programs staff are also available to assist students with external scholarship opportunities. Please visit the financial aid section of our website at nyu.edu/global-programs/financial-aid for further information.

Non-NYU students are encouraged to contact their home institution regarding portable financial assistance, such as Pell Grants, Stafford Loans, and Direct PLUS Loans. Through a consortium agreement initiated by the student's home university, this assistance may travel with the student and apply to NYU tuition and fees.

Course offerings and housing accommodations at all global locations are subject to change. Refer to the website for the most up-to-date information.
