Instructions to correct problems with the I-94

You may contact an office called Deferred Inspection to resolve issues with your I-94 record. If your I-94 record does not match your F-1/J-1 student immigration status, you must report to Deferred Inspection at either airport listed. For more information on the I-94, visit bit.ly/i-94deferredinspection.

What to do:

1. Gather your documents:
   - Original Passport
   - I-94 record (print out available at bit.ly/getyouri94) or print-out of the error message you receive when you try to access it
   - Original I-20/DS-2019
   - Your airline ticket (If you still have it or a copy of your flight itinerary)

2. Call one of the Deferred Inspection offices listed.
   If they cannot assist you by phone, they may instruct you to physically go to their office at the location listed.

3. Deferred Inspection corrects your I-94.
   Be prepared to wait. The length of time for review depends on volume and availability of the officers.
