New Employee Onboarding: Buddy Guidelines

What is a buddy?

A buddy is someone who partners with a new employee during his/her first 2 months of employment. While primarily responsible for offering advice and guidance regarding the day-to-day aspects of working at NYU, the buddy may also offer encouragement and knowledge resources, as they help introduce the new employee to the NYU culture.

Key characteristics of a buddy include:
- Communicator: A buddy should encourage open communication. The buddy should provide relevant information to the new employee and encourage a process of continued, self-directed learning.
- Role Model: The buddy should be a model employee and exemplify NYU values.
- Motivated: The buddy should have a positive outlook on his/her work and use that perspective to help build self-confidence and loyalty in the new employee. The buddy should lead by example.
- Strong Performer: The buddy can help guide the new employee in many situations based on his/her experience and knowledge obtained in the work environment.

Why have a buddy?

The purpose of new employees being assigned a buddy is to help welcome employees and reaffirm their decision to join NYU. It provides new employees with a reliable, motivated, single point-of-contact for their basic questions regarding their work experience at NYU. It also helps establish orientation as a process, rather than a single learning event. Other advantages of having a buddy include:

- Build on the knowledge obtained in the New Employee Orientation and department orientation
- Enable new employees to become knowledgeable about department practices and organizational culture in a shorter period
- Ensure that routine queries regarding basic operational issues are dealt with expeditiously
- Reduce the initial confusion and uncertainty faced by all new employees
- Maximize the productivity of manager/new employee meetings by allowing them to focus on job-specific issues
- Increase the new employee’s self-confidence allowing him/her to focus on adding value to the organization
What the Buddy Expects From their New Employee:

- The new employee will receive constructive criticism in good spirit
- The new employee will display a “coachable” attitude
- The new employee will display an eagerness to learn

Buddy Selection Criteria

Hiring managers are responsible for selecting a buddy for their new employee. Selections should be based on the following characteristics:

- Demonstrates strong performance
- Is given time to be accessible to the new employee
- Is skilled in/has knowledge of the new employee’s job
- Is proud of NYU and his/her contributions
- Is a peer of the new employee
- Has patience and good communication and interpersonal skills
- Wants to be a buddy
- Is well regarded and accepted by current employees

What A Buddy Is Not

A buddy shall not be required to assume any of the following roles:

- Mentor: Someone, typically more experienced, who is involved with the all-round development of an individual (personal and professional).
- Manager: Someone responsible for the new employee’s job performance. If queries arise regarding performance, disciplinary or policy matters, the buddy is free to give his/her opinion and advice on how to approach the situation. However, he/she is not in a position to resolve the matter. The new employee must be directed to their manager for resolution of the relevant issue(s).

Buddy Responsibilities

- Contact and meet with the new employee on Day 1
- Establish a rapport with the new employee
- Have lunch with the new employee at least once a month
- Act as an informational resource on policies and procedures
- Help socialize the new employee to NYU’s guidelines, norms and culture
- Answer general/routine questions
- Make introductions
- Ensure an open communication between the new employee and the buddy, respecting confidentiality
- Follow up with the new employee on a weekly basis
- Suggested meeting guidelines are as follows:
Formal Relationship – 2 months
• Day One- meet new employee for lunch at Kimmel MarketPlace on 1st day during new hire orientation
• Weekly meetings 5-15 minutes in duration
• Call/email questions, as needed. Buddy to set acceptable perimeters.

Informal Relationship – Open
• The buddy can provide continued support beyond the 2-month expiration of the formal relationship if such support is warranted and welcomed by the new employee.

Tips for Buddies:
• Don’t worry about being perceived as the expert. Focus your attention on the new employee
• Be patient: It takes time to develop a relationship. Don’t try to cover everything right away
• Be positive: New employees will grow into their roles if given proper reinforcement
• Don’t try to force a relationship
• Try to identify the new employee’s personality and communication style and adapt accordingly
• Don’t be judgmental. Simply offer feedback
• Maintain a good attitude and a teaching spirit

Having a Buddy is a Win/Win/Win Scenario

This offers significant benefits to the new employee, the buddy, and NYU:
