3 Steps to NYU Brightspace Fall 2021 Readiness

Dear Faculty,

As shared in May, all instruction will be on our new learning management system, NYU Brightspace, starting in the fall 2021 semester. We want to help ensure you are familiar with the new system and feel ready to use it on your first day of class. It will take some time to familiarize yourself with the new system. Plan ahead to set yourself up for success and avoid feeling rushed at the start of a busy fall semester.

Before your first day of class, find out where you’re teaching and review your courses. Below are three steps to help you prepare to teach on campus this fall.

---

The three steps

✓ Find your classroom. For general purpose classrooms go here, otherwise please contact your school's Ed Tech support team for details.

✓ Log in to Brightspace to access your Course Site and add content.

✓ Ask for help! Your school's Ed Tech Support team is here for you, and you can check out NYU IT's Getting Started resources.

---

Support for creating your course site

If you don’t see your fall site, check with your school's Ed Tech support team for help, or click Create Course Site at the top menu bar in NYU Brightspace. To learn more, watch this two-minute video or check out this knowledge article for instructions on creating your course site.

Subscribe to our email list.
Zoom Classroom info

Teach with confidence when using an NYU Zoom Classroom this fall. Bookmark this page for instructional tips, video tutorials, and step-by-step PDF instructions you can download for teaching in NYU Zoom classrooms.

Questions

To get started and learn more about Brightspace, visit nyu.edu/its. Contact your Ed Tech support team or the NYU IT Service Desk with additional questions.