

GET TO KNOW NYU TANDON

Follow the numbers to see where the learning—and living—takes place.

- 1 The Wunsch Building is home to Undergraduate Admissions, Tandon Graduate Admissions, and the Wasserman Center for Career Development in Brooklyn.
- 2 The Dibner Building houses the Office of Student Affairs, the Office of Undergraduate Academics, the Bern Dibner Library of Science and Technology, and Pfizer Auditorium.
- 3 Othmer Residence Hall accommodates more than 400 Tandon students in traditional and apartment-style suites.
- 4 Clark Street Residence Hall in Brooklyn Heights, about a 15-minute walk from campus, is an apartment-style building that includes an 8,300-square-foot student community center.
- 5&6 Rogers Hall and the Jacobs Academic Building are interconnected structures housing classrooms; research labs; academic offices; the MakerSpace, a state-of-the-art prototyping hub equipped with 3-D printers, laser cutters, and milling machines; the NYU Nanofabrication Cleanroom, a lab that supports nanoscale research across disciplines; the Polytechnic Tutoring Center; and Tandon's Writing Center.
- 7 1 MetroTech Center is home to the office of the dean and alumni relations.
- 8 2 MetroTech Center is the location of the Moses Center for Student Accessibility; the Governance Lab (GovLab); and other academic departments.
- 9 15 MetroTech Center houses C2SMART, a research center focusing on transportation systems.
- 10 MetroTech Commons serves as both a green space and a gathering place for NYU Tandon students and locals alike.
- 11 370 Jay Street houses NYU's Center for Urban Science and Progress. It is also the home of NYU Tandon's computer science and electrical and computer engineering departments, the integrated digital media program, the Game Innovation Lab, the Media and Games Network (MAGNET), the Urban Future Lab, NYU Wireless, and the Clive Davis Institute of Recorded Music as well as the NYU Game Center, among other departments at the Tisch School of the Arts.

The best way to get from Brooklyn to NYU's Washington Square campus is to take the A, C, or F subway line to the West Fourth Street-Washington Square station. Students can also take the free NYU Shuttle from 6 MetroTech Center at Jay Street in Brooklyn, which stops in Manhattan at Canal and Centre streets as well as 715 Broadway, near Washington Square Park. For more information, go to admissions.nyu.edu/visit.