Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974

The Federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA) establishes standards concerning the privacy of student education records and the rights of students to inspect and review their education records. As enrolled students in a post-secondary institution, NYU Middle & High School Programs students are entitled to the protection afforded them under FERPA, and the right of access to their educational record belongs to the student no matter the legal age or status as a minor.

The decision whether to notify parents or guardians in such situations will be made according to the professional judgment of appropriate staff and does not require the prior consent of the student.
