FIELD SEASON: RECORDS, WANDERING PERSPECTIVES, SIDE NOTES brings to view up to now rarely seen images of archaeological life from the Institute of Fine Arts excavations in Abydos, Egypt. Photographers Greg Maka, Amanda Kirkpatrick and Gus Gusciora, will show work selected from the literally thousands of photographs that have accumulated in the archives over the past three years. Each of these prints offers a glimpse into the daily routines that intersect the lives of workers, staff and research team - what happens in the background of one of the largest current archaeological projects in Egypt.
