Deanie Stein Joins Institute of Fine Arts’ Board of Trustees

Judy Steinhardt, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, is pleased to announce that Deanie Stein has joined the Board of Trustees of the Institute of Fine Arts. A native of Drew, Mississippi, Deanie Stein received her MA degree from Delta State College in 1970. She lived in New Orleans for many years where she worked as a freelance photographer and writer before embarking on a career in retail marketing and advertising with Godchaux’s and Maison Blanche/City Stores. She then joined the Stein Mart organization in Jacksonville, FL, as vice president of advertising and marketing in 1986, where she remained through 1998. She lives with her husband Jay Stein in Jacksonville, Florida.

Patricia Rubin, Judy and Michael Steinhardt Director of the Institute of Fine Arts notes, “On behalf of the entire Institute of Fine Arts community, I am delighted to welcome Deanie Stein to our Board of Trustees. We look forward to working with her as we chart the future of the Institute of Fine Arts.”

The Institute of Fine Arts of New York University is one of the world’s leading graduate schools and research centers in art history, archaeology, and conservation. The Institute has a permanent faculty unrivalled in the breadth and depth of its expertise and unparalleled in the range of its adjunct lecturers from top museums, research institutes, and conservation studios. Since the Institute awarded its first PhD in 1933, more than 1600 degrees have been conferred. A high proportion of alumni hold international leadership roles as professors, curators, museum directors, archaeologists, conservators, critics, and institutional administrators.
