Nancy Lee Joins Institute of Fine Arts’ Board of Trustees

June 1, 2015. Stephen L. Lash, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, is pleased to announce that Nancy Lee has joined the Board of Trustees of the Institute of Fine Arts.

Ms. Lee is the Chairman of the Friends of Hong Kong Museum of Art, which provides art education programs to its members and the general public, and raises funds for the museum. She was born in Ecuador and grew up in Chile. Ms. Lee moved to the U.S. at the age of 14 and attended Lake Forest College in the suburbs of Chicago. She then received an M.A. in chemistry at the Johns Hopkins University. She came to the Institute to study with Jonathan Brown and Jonathan Hay, graduating with an M.A. in 1989. After graduation, Ms. Lee moved to Hong Kong where she now resides.

Patricia Rubin, Judy and Michael Steinhardt Director of the Institute of Fine Arts notes, “I am delighted to welcome back our alumna Nancy Lee as she returns to the Institute and joins our Board of Trustees. She has been an advocate of education in the arts through her deep involvement with museums and we are thrilled that she will bring her international experience to the Institute.”

The Institute of Fine Arts is an international leader in research and graduate teaching. We are committed to global engagement and advancing the fields of art history, archaeology, and the theory and practice of conservation. New York City, with its incomparable resources and vitality, provides a backdrop and extended campus for our activities. Our work takes place on-site and beyond our walls through fieldwork, off-site teaching, cultural advocacy, and curatorial and conservation collaborations.
