Course Description

With the advent of new technologies, film producers, distributors and managers of film and video collections are faced with myriad legal and ethical issues concerning the use of their works or the works found in various collections. The answers to legal questions are not always apparent and can be complex, particularly where different types of media are encompassed in one production. When the law remains unclear, a risk assessment, often fraught with ethical considerations, is required to determine whether a production can be reproduced, distributed or exhibited without infringing the rights of others. What are the various legal rights that may encumber moving image material? What are the complex layers of rights and who holds them? Does one have to clear before attempting to preserve or restore a work? How do these rights affect downstream exhibition and distribution of a preserved work? And finally, what steps can be taken in managing moving image collections so that decisions affecting copyrights can be taken consistently? This course will help students make intelligent decisions and develop appropriate policies for their institution.

Course Objectives

Upon completion of the course, the students will:

- Be able to identify the types of content protected by copyright, trademark and patent law
- Gain a firm grounding in the theory and language that underlies copyright law that affects preservation, restoration, exhibition and repurposing of works
- Understand potential copyright reforms from different points of view
- Be able to research and make high-confidence determinations of the copyright status of items in collections

- Be able to make well-reasoned arguments as to whether a particular use is a fair use
- Be able to make well-reasoned arguments as to whether a particular use falls within some other exception granted to users of copyrighted works
- Comprehend copyright management as a function of collections management

Evaluation and Assessment

Students will be assigned three exercises and an intellectual property audit project to test their grasp of topics taught in class and covered in the readings. Technical aspects, logic, and demonstrations of critical thinking of these written assignments will be evaluated. For full credit, all assignments must be submitted in a timely manner and in a professionally appropriate form. All assignments should be submitted electronically through NYU Classes. All assignments are due at the start of the class indicated on the syllabus.

Regular attendance is required and class participation is expected. This is an interactive class and students will be asked to regularly share their thoughts and contribute to classroom discussion. Because critical thinking and analytical reasoning are essential skills to future employment, students will also be asked to take and defend positions on copyright issues in class discussions.

There may be times during class where you will be asked to respond to a question by sending a text message or accessing a website. Although a cell phone is not required for this class, you are encouraged to bring one if you have one already. Other than the times where your responses are requested, there should be no active communication using computers or mobile devices during class. Interruptions will affect participation grades.

Exercises, the audit project and class participation will be weighed as follows:

Three copyright assignments/exercises	45%
Audit Project oral presentation	10%
Audit Project written report	25%
Class participation	20%
Total	100%

Course Credits

This is a four-credit course.

Late Policy

All work is expected to be completed on time. Assignments turned in late (unless excused) are subject to a five percent (5%) penalty per three days late. The last day assignments will be accepted is 5:00 PM on December 14, 2018. Failure to submit an assignment by 5:00 PM on December 14, 2018, will result in a forfeiture of credit for that assignment.

Assignment Submission

Assignments should be submitted through NYU Classes. Written comments will be delivered to students no later than three weeks after the assignment has been turned in.

Incompletes

Incomplete will only be given in the case of a dire emergency and only then if the majority of the class is completed and completed successfully. The awarding of a grade of incomplete is at the discretion of the instructor and not guaranteed. Before the last class meeting, the student must meet with the professor and MIAP staff to discuss the proposed incomplete grade.

Required Texts

PETER B. HIRTLE ET AL., COPYRIGHT AND CULTURAL INSTITUTIONS: GUIDELINES FOR U.S. LIBRARIES, ARCHIVES, AND MUSEUMS (2009), <http://ecommons.cornell.edu/handle/1813/14142> (hereinafter HIRTLE)

In addition, a supplemental list of readings is included for each class. Please come to class having read all readings assigned for that class. Judicial opinions are particularly important because they will be the foundation of classroom discussion.

Citation Style

There is no one preferred citation format for this class. You should feel free to select one of the major formats you are most comfortable with (e.g., APA, MLA, Chicago, or Bluebook). However, once you have selected a format, you must continue to use that style throughout the class.

If you have questions about grammar or want to ensure that your style is clear, effective, and readable, see William Strunk, Jr.'s The Elements of Style, online through <http://www.bartleby.com/141/>. This succinct work is available cheaply in used copies at many used bookstores or online.

Digital Archive of Student Work

All student projects are to be collected and made accessible on the Student Work page of the MIAP website (<https://tisch.nyu.edu/cinema-studies/miap/student-work>). Certain types of assignments will be password-protected and made accessible only to MIAP students and faculty. Students are required to submit all of their work for each class to their professor in a digital format (.pdf is encouraged for cross-platform compatibility) via email or other available digital medium.

As a primary goal of NYU's MIAP Program is to be useful to the archival field, the default status of student works will be public (with the exception of internship reports and thesis proposals). Students, in consultation with their instructor, can make a case for why a particular assignment should be restricted to internal use. Proprietary information, confidential information, or copyright issues may lead to this decision, but not a general unwillingness to make work public.

When students submit digital files of their work, the file names should conform to MIAP's standard format, with f used to indicate fall semester and s used to indicate spring semester:

YYsemester_course number_author's last name_assignment number.file extension. Here is an example of a student with the surname Smith, submitting the first assignment in the fall 2019 course CINE-GT 1800: 18f_1800_Smith_a1.pdf

For multiple authors, the two initials of each author will be used, separated from each other by underscores. An underscore and the assignment number will follow this. Assignment numbers are determined by the order in which the assignments are given. They begin with an "a," followed by a number between one and ten. For assignments with multiple files, a letter can be added after the number. Thus, one could have "a1b," meaning that this is the second of multiple files from one student for one particular assignment. In the case of a restricted file that should not be made public, the student should add an "_x" to the end of the file name indicating the file's restricted status: 18f_1800_Smith_a1_x.pdf. Otherwise, permission shall be implicitly granted for the student's work to be posted on the MIAP website.

Important Policies and Resources

Tisch Policy on Academic Integrity

The core of the educational experience at the Tisch School of the Arts is the creation of original work by students for the critical review of faculty members. Any attempt to evade that essential transaction through plagiarism or cheating is educationally self-defeating and a grave violation of Tisch's community standards. Plagiarism is presenting someone else's original work as if it were your own; cheating is an attempt to deceive a faculty member into believing that your mastery of a subject or discipline is greater than it really is. Penalties for violations of Tisch's Academic Integrity Policy may range from being required to redo an assignment to dismissal from the School. For more information on the policy—including academic integrity resources, investigation procedures, and penalties—please refer to the Policies and Procedures Handbook (tisch.nyu.edu/student-affairs/important-resources/tisch-policies-and-handbooks) on the website of the Tisch Office of Student Affairs.

Health & Wellness Resources

Your health and safety are a priority at NYU. If you experience any health or mental health issues during this course, we encourage you to utilize the support services of the 24/7 NYU Wellness Exchange 212-443-9999. Also, all students who may require an academic accommodation due to a qualified disability, physical or mental, please register with the Moses Center 212-998-4980. Please let your instructor know if you need help connecting to these resources. Students may also contact MIAP Director Juana Suárez (juana@nyu.edu) and/or Associate Director Scott Statland (scott.statland@nyu.edu) for help connecting to resources.

Sexual Misconduct, Relationship Violence, and Stalking Policy

NYU seeks to maintain a safe learning, living, and working environment. To that end, sexual misconduct, including sexual or gender-based harassment, sexual assault, and sexual exploitation, are prohibited. Relationship violence, stalking, and retaliation against an individual for making a good faith report of sexual misconduct are also prohibited. These prohibited forms of conduct are emotionally and physically traumatic and a violation of one's rights. They are unlawful, undermine the character and purpose of NYU, and will not be tolerated. A student or employee determined by NYU to have committed an act of prohibited conduct is subject to disciplinary action, up to and including separation from NYU. Students should refer to the online Sexual Misconduct, Relationship Violence, and Stalking Resource Guide for Students for detailed information about on-campus and community support services, resources, and reporting procedures. Students are also welcome to report any concerns to MIAP Director Juana Suárez (juana@nyu.edu) and/or Associate Director Scott Statland (scott.statland@nyu.edu).

Non-Discrimination and Anti-Harassment Policy

NYU is committed to equal treatment and opportunity for its students and to maintaining an environment that is free of bias, prejudice, discrimination, and harassment. Prohibited discrimination includes adverse treatment of any student based on race, gender and/or gender identity or expression, color, religion, age, national origin, ethnicity, disability, veteran or military status, sexual orientation, marital status, or citizenship status, rather than on the basis of his/her individual merit. Prohibited harassment is unwelcome verbal or physical conduct based on race, gender and/or gender identity or expression, color, religion, age, national origin, ethnicity, disability, veteran or military status, sexual orientation, marital status, or citizenship status. Prohibited discrimination and harassment undermine the character and purpose of NYU and may violate the law. They will not be tolerated. NYU strongly encourages members of the University Community who have been victims of prohibited discrimination or prohibited harassment to report the conduct. MIAP students may make such reports to MIAP Director Juana Suárez (juana@nyu.edu) and/or Associate Director Scott Statland (scott.statland@nyu.edu), or directly to Marc Wais, Senior Vice President for Student Affairs. Students should refer to the University's Non-Discrimination and Anti-Harassment Policy and Complaint Procedures for detailed information about on-campus and community support services, resources, and reporting procedures.

NYU Guidelines for Compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA) was enacted to protect the privacy of students' education records, to establish the rights of students to inspect and review their education records, and to provide students with an opportunity to have inaccurate or misleading information in their education records corrected. In general, personally identifiable information from a student's education records, including grades, may not be shared without a student's written consent. However, such consent is not needed for disclosure of such information between school officials with legitimate educational interests, which includes any University employee acting within the scope of their University employment. See here (nyu.edu/about/policies-guidelines-compliance/policies-and-guidelines/FERPA.html) for full policy guidelines.

- 1) Copyright Registration. To familiarize students with copyright ownership and the terms commonly used in copyright registrations, students will describe a work they have created. Students will also locate the copyright registration of a film created after 1978.
- 3) Copyright Reform. To encourage students to think critically about copyright law and reforms, students will write a short 3-4 page paper arguing for a particular reform to copyright law of the students' choosing.
- 2) Fair Use in the News. To encourage students to stay current on copyright issues, students will research a current fair use dispute and write a 3-5 page summary of the situation, including arguments supporting each side.
- 4) WNET Audit Report. To measure the result of student learning throughout the semester, students will be required to submit an audit report of a WNET item. The audit report will demonstrate an understanding of copyright law based on the fields of information selected by the students in the spreadsheet and in the written summary submitted to WNET.
